CRESSON.

The Mountain House--The Guests--The Picnics--The Springs--The Journey Home.

It was rather a crowded train that took a batch of Pittsburghers and your correspondent among them to Cresson Springs on Saturday last, through a storm that must have been nearly fifty miles long. It was dreary weather, and a trip likely to put the spirits of the passengers in a state of depression, from which many were not rescued until they came into the great dining room of the Mountain House, and felt the genial influences of the chef de cuisine of that resort. A game of billiards, a cigar and a night on a bed that felt like those for which Paris is famed brought your correspondent into a fitting mental and corporeal condition to resist the heavy cloud which hung about the mountain top all day like a wet blanket, only being broken every now and then by a cheerless rain. The hotel was pretty full on Sunday, as were some few of the cottages, and some ten or a dozen of the visitors mustered devotion and courage enough to go off two miles to church at the village of Summit. The rest stayed in their rooms, hung about the porches or, like the subscriber and his party, defied the weather, and explored the numerous and far reaching board pathways leading to the Iron and Alum springs, the bath houses, the various cottages and the station, nor did they fail to avail themselves of the generous hospitality of a fellow townsman at his cottage. Among the well known Pittsburghers at Cresson, we recognized Mr. A. S. Bell and family, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Crossman, Miss Phillips, Mrs. David Park, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Tack and Messrs. Jones, Dilworth, Brock, Laughlin, Cosgrave, McCance, Bagaley, Stallknecht, King, Arnold, Sands, and a pleasant party of five young gentlemen, four white and one colored, whose names we did not learn; besides ex-Gov. Denniston and family from Columbus, Mr. Andrew Carnegie, of New York, Mr. Augustus H. Tack and family, of Philadelphia, Mr. Frank Tack, of Oil City, Mr. Evans and family, of the West Chester Record, and numerous others. On Sunday, dinner was the event of the day, then the eastern bound train was visited and the Sunday papers reviewed and eagerly explored for news of the new party, but in vain. A delightful evening on the noble porches of the hotel almost repaid for the horrors of the gloomy day preceding.

The Birthday Anniversary of the nation dawned gloriously; the air was delicious, the sky perfect, the mountain looking its very loveliest. An early train carried off a large delegation to the races at Altoona, which were something of a fizzle, but those who stayed were glad they had done so. The house was thronged with visitors from the neighboring towns all day, and two pic-nics, one at Lorretto and the other at Summit, drew the country folks from miles around. A charming walk—made with companions that would have cast a glamour of delight around scenes far less lovely—brought us to the scene of rustic merry-making on the mountain-top, where refreshments and dancing platforms were nestled in the most confident fashion beneath the arches of the forest primeval. Here for a while we watched the doings of the fawns and wood-nymphs—lusty, vigorous devotees of Terpsichore, who, with all of the native graces of the region, let loose their agile limbs—with an abandon and recklessness only to be equalled by the power and rapidity of their speech—and rejoiced in the independence of their country and the plentifulness of their beer.

A walk from thence by way of the old portage road and down one of those relics of antiquity, an inclined plane, brought us to the famous iron spring, where a naid yclept "Rosy," black-eyed and smeary, had taken the place of "Mickey" the presiding deity of the fountain, who was among the revellers we had left at the Sylvan festival.

But it would take too long to go into further particulars of this short and charming visit, suffice it to say that we found the hotel and grounds greatly improved, a new mile and a half track almost finished, a really superb kitchen, said to be the most complete in America, added, and Mr. Mullins, just the same genial Mr. Mullins, looking after the welfare of his guests as has for so long been his custom. About the time that the evening train for the west was due, the guests at the hotel began to gravitate towards the station, and they must have felt well repaid for so doing, for a more motley, jubilant crowd is not always to be witnessed. The platform was filled with pic-nickers from Loretto and the Summit homeward bound, with their spirits in full flow and when the train came thundering along and stopped, there was a crush which defies description. Several hundred people wanted to get on the train at one door, about half as many wanted to get off at the same place and the cars were already packed to a degree.

At last the change was effected, and the train moved off, every aisle solid with warm humanity mosaic-ed with a nicety that would shame the artificers of Florence. Men stood there holding babies in the air to save them from the fate of the Princes in the tower, other men stood there with their arms in curious positions, and seemingly unable to move them, many being around the waists of the other sex, tightly pressed, and showing no signs of any ability to move, excepting an occasional convulsive sort of a contraction of the muscles, which must have been felt by the girls, but they were "mountain lasses," and never winced but stood the pressure nobly. At Wilmore a few thousands, more or less, left the train, and then we began to observe a young beauty who was seated upon the back of a seat, with her feet on the cushions below. Red cheeks and white teeth were her portion, and she was a belle of the first water, knowing every young man of the large party, and beckoning him to her, and woe to him who attempted to pass her bye, for an arm that would have honored Jael Dence would be around his neck, or a parasol hook would be in his coat, and he would be drawn by these gentle threads of feminine influence to the feet of beauty. The result was that she reigned supreme over a court of a dozen cavaliers, and although no special lover seemed to be her portion.

"Yet a' the lads they smiled at her
A comin' thro' the car."

And many a jealous glance we caught, darted at her from eyes that should have looked but love into those other eyes belonging to the young men with convulsive arms.

At Johnstown the beauty par excellence and all the other beauties and their enamored swains departed, making way for a fresh batch of rustic mountain loveliness, who were with us but for a few short, fleeting miles, and then vanished into the night, leaving us with but a few to come into the smoky city, which we did after having come to the conclusion that Cresson Springs are pleasant, Cresson guests delightful and Cambria county preachers likely to reap rich harvests soon, if arm-encircled necks and waists may be construed into omens of marriage ceremonies.

MANSFIELD, O.

Great Trial of Agricultural Implements.

[Special Telegram to the Gazette.]

MANSFIELD, July 7, 1870.

The third day of the great reaping trial was suspended this forenoon on account of rain. At about three the dynamometer test was resumed and the interest was at its height when a sudden shower suspended operations.

The field for reaping was opened by the "Champion Self-raker," Mr. Whitley driving. The change of weather has only procrastinated the trial, but has not lessened the interest. "Rank's Changable Speed" is still gaining friends. W. H. Williams, general agent of the "World" for Ohio, is active in the interest of the Company.

[Correspondence of Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MANSFIELD, O., July 7, 1870.

A GREAT FIELD TRIAL OF MOWERS AND REAPERS.

This morning opened wet, and at present writing there is nothing doing on the field. This afternoon may develop better weather, and I shall chronicle the result by telegraph. There are probably five hundred machine men and strangers interested awaiting the weather.

I subjoin some additional matter that may be interesting; also references to some of the principal machines.

The machine business has assumed an immense magnitude. Not less than thirty millions of capital is invested in it in the United States. The lowest estimate of mowers and reapers built this year is one hundred and ten thousand. Allowing each machine to save the labor of one man (a low estimate), we have a saving of manual labor of five hundred and fifty thousand men in a single year. At least this number were sold, and some contend one-fourth more than this estimate, as there were some left over last year. Although this may seem large, it is barely sufficient to supply the demand occasioned by new farms brought annually into cultivation. This has become an important business to Pittsburgh, as she furnishes at least two-thirds of the iron and steel used in manufacturing the machines. Jones & Laughlin, Anderson & Woods, Hussey, Wells & Co., Lloyd & Black, Reiter & Co., Brown & Co., Lewis, Oliver & Phillips, all derive a heavy trade in this line. And in this connection I have one word to say. Why is it we can furnish the material referred to, even the coal and coke, transport it hundreds of miles to the west and return the manufactured article and not enjoy the profit of building these machines ourselves? The transportation itself would be a big profit, and I can see no reason why we can't manufacture as cheaply as the west. Let our manufacturers look to this; there is a wide field open. I continue my mention of the different machines.

THE MANSFIELD.

This name was very appropriately selected for the neat, compact little machine built by the Mansfield Machine Works of this city. It is the invention of Mr. Hishwitz, of Williamsburg, New York, and is extensively built in the east, where it is known as the Advance, and has met with great favor. It has been improved and to some extent remodeled by Mr. Reece, the mechanical mind of the company in question, with particular reference to the demands in the west. A large number were built for the present harvest and sold long before the season commenced. The most gratifying results have attended their use. One of these machines has been on trial and fully sustained the expectations of its friends. The ground was raked off, and the work showed a clean, low, uniform stubble. Indeed one old machine man said a "straight edge" would touch every one. The draft was very light and the movements noiseless,—no side draft, but an evenly, uniform, steady motion, showing no tire to the team and no wear, cutting or heating of the gear. The driver controled the team and machine with as much facility as a gig. It is proper to add that this was the only machine taken entirely apart on the ground. Every piece was taken apart inside of two minutes by the watch, by one man. It was put together in nearly the same time. The gearing is ingenious but simple, and so arranged that there is no danger of accumulating dirt, creating friction, and should any part break, any farmer the least skilled in mechanics can take it apart and repair or replace it. The Mansfield Mechanic Works also build the "Buckeye." This is too well known to need commendation. They have an extensive factory at this place, and extensively build engines, saw mills and other machinery. It is their intention to have a large supply of the Mansfield for next harvest, and orders are already received for 1870.

THE ALLIANCE AGRICULTURAL WORKS.

This prosperous manufactory is represented by Mr. Nixon, of the firm, who has recently invented and perfected a new machine. It is called the U. S., and possesses a number of valuable points. This machine was tried, and performed with ease and speed; cut a clean and evenly swarth, and showed great adaptation to the different kinds of ground and grass. One peculiarity was particularly noticeable, viz., the dropping or adjustible rolling motion of the knife and cutter bar. This is most ingeniously arranged, and enables the driver when the machine is in motion to turn the cutter bar either down or up, thus taking advantage of any undulations of the ground or leaning grass. The U. S. is a compact, durable machine, easily managed and of simple construction. The Company have been building the Cayuga Chief, and are known as placing before the public only the best machinery. The U. S. promises to fully equal its namesake in popularity and notoriety, and have an early and extensive introduction.

THE BUCKEYE MOWER AND REAPER.

The name and fame of this machine is commensurate with the Union, and wherever improved conveniences have been introduced it stands at the head and front. It was the first successful two-wheeled machine, and since its triumph at the first great national trial has continued to increase in popularity and usefulness. No improvement, invention, or convenience known to the agricultural world has proved of more benefit to the community. The writer has seen more than two hundred gold and silver medals awarded it in set field trials, and it is a notorious fact that it has never in a single instance failed.

THE BUCKEYE

Is built both as a mower and reaper, and is, without doubt, the only really portable machine in use. The cutter bar folds with all the facility that a "bird folds its wings." Capt. John A. Earnshaw, who has been the early and steady friend of the machine in question, handles the reins. No better field operator exists. Louis Miller, of the Akron firm, is present. Mr. Miller is a mechanic of the first order, and has left no effort to make the "Buckeye" what it really is, a "triumphant success." His self-rake improved system of guards, and many other improvements clearly prove his ability.

It is admitted by all that the Buckeye has the best general reputation of any machine in use for all purposes, and it has been the aim, and still will be, to sustain its character. The Canton firm, C. Aultman & Co., are also represented, and in all there are five Buckeyes, and all receiving attention. It was remarked by an old merchant that Capt. Earnshaw should have bells on his team as it was so noiseless as to give no warning of its approach. This certainly speaks highly of its great mechanical construction and avoidance of friction. I shall have more to say of its reaping.

THE JOHNSON SELF-RAKE.

Mr. Johnson, the inventor of the above, in connection with Bullen, the general agent of the firm of Johnson, Huntley & Co., Brockport, N. Y., are present with a reaper, also self-rake and binding attachment. The latter was put to trial yesterday, and its working was witnessed by a large number of agricultural men who had never seen anything of the kind tried. It fully sustained itself. Johnson's self-rake is known as possessing points of merit that have never yet been equalled, and is used by a large number of leading manufacturers. His reaper has taken a number of first premiums, among which were gold medals, last year, at Louisville, Ky., and the great trial last month at Xenia.

Mr. Johnson has made his mark in the agricultural world and done more than any one living, of his age, to benefit the farming community. His self-rake has been a success and his self-binder promises still greater results.

THE BUCYRUS MOWER AND REAPER.

It would be doing injustice to mechanical skill, and a meritorious mechanic not to mention this valuable field convenience. It fully met public expectation and notwithstanding the prejudice of certain parties jealous of worth has continued to increase in favor. The machine is substantially built and has some very superior points of merit and will develop its raking better in heavy grain or grass than where the machines were tested. I had the pleasure of meeting S. R. Harris Esq., the President, whom I found to be not only a practical mechinist, but a gentlemen of enlarged experience in business and thoroughly conversant with the use of field machinery. Mr. Sheppart, the principal mechanic of the firm, was also present andfully proved himself a good operator. The Bucyrus, as you are well aware, is introduced in Pennsylvania, and I shall refer to it hereafter.

THE CLEVELAND AGRICULTURAL WORKS.

The above have been permanently before the agricultural community for nearly thirty years, making all the principal farm and barn tools, saw mills, plows, cultivators, &c. They own and build the Hubbard mower for most of the Western and Southwestern States, and have made considerable improvements in it. Their Hubbard was tried as mower and did first class work. As a reaper this machine has still greater reputation, particularly with the self-rake attachment. This is of the family of Johnson rakes and has been modified and greatly improved. Such has been the demand for their machinery that they sold out weeks before harvest commenced. I was pleased to meet the old, staunch, noble hearted H. B. Wright, Esq., the general traveling agent of the firm, and Mr. O. Catlin, of the same. These gentlemen all look hale and hearty.

J. T. F.

—Mr. Palmer, of Little Rock, Arkansas, a day or two since made personal application to the Superintendent of the Free Labor Bureau of New York city for fifty servant girls. He said that the white families of Little Rock had held a meeting, and after collectively concluding that the negroes had been unmanageable as household servants, had resolved to employ white labor, and had sent him North amply provided with funds to employ the requisite number of persons.

XLIST CONGRESS.

(SECOND SESSION.)

SENATE: Woman Suffrage Amendment—Commercial Relations with Spanish American Countries—Navy Appropriations—Election and Apportionment of Representatives—Army Bill Conference Report Tabled. HOUSE: Naturalization Question—Currency Bill Finally Passed—Funding Bill Referred to Conference Committee.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, July 7, 1870.

Numerously signed petitions against the continuance of the Income tax were presented by Mr. CAMERON, and tabled.

Mr. TRUMBULL, in response to various petitions for the amendment of the Constitution allowing women to vote, reported the same back, and asked to be discharged from their further consideration. So ordered.

The Conference report relative to the navy pension fund was agreed to.

Mr. NYE introduced a bill to regulate rank in the navy. Referred.

Mr. SHERMAN, from the Finance Committee, reported an amendment to the civil appropriation bill, making an appropriation for extra clerical force required by the passing of the banking and currency act.

Mr. FENTON addressed the Senate on the subject of our commercial relations with Spanish-American countries on this continent, which he thought had been too much neglected. He believed our commerce with them capable of very large and valuable increase. Mr. Fenton then submitted the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to institute inquiry, by such means as in his judgment shall be deemed proper, into the present condition of the commercial relations between the United States and Spanish-American States on this continent, and between those countries and other nations, and communicate to the Senate full and complete statements regarding the same, together with such recommendations as he may think necessary to promote the development and increase our commerce with those regions and secure to us that proportional share of the trade of this continent to which their close relations of geographical contiguity and political friendship with all the States of America justly entitle them.

Several House bills passed, including that requiring National banks going into liquidation to retire their circulating notes.

Reports were made as follows:

By Mr. CORBETT, from Committee on Commerce, without amendment, the bill to incorporate the Tehuantepec railway and ship canal company.

By Mr. GILBERT, from Committee on Post-offices, with amendment, the bill authorizing mail steamship service between Cedar Keys, Florida, and Havana.

By Mr. STEWART, with amendment, the bill to divide Virginia into two Judicial Districts.

By Mr. CRAGIN, from Naval Committee, without amendment, the joint resolution providing that enlistments in the Marine corps shall be for not less than five years.

By Mr. TIPTON, from Committee on Public Lands, with amendments, the bill granting lands to Lincoln City and Loupe Fork Railroad.

Mr. CAMERON introduced a joint resolution for accepting the proposals of the International Steamship Company for constructing and placing steamships in the Trans-Atlantic service. Referred.

Mr. MORRILL, Me., called up the Naval Appropriation bill, the question being upon concurring in the amendments made in Committee of the Whole.

An amendment was adopted, after discussion, providing that no money appropriated by the bill for the present fiscal year shall be expended on account of naval engines contracted for during the war.

An amendment by the Committee on Appropriations, to prohibit retired officers being assigned to duty or given increased pay and allowances, was discussed at length.

Amendments were offered by Mr. CRAGIN, increasing the number of seamen, ordinary seamen, mechanics and boys in the Navy from 8,500 to 10,000; by Mr. DRAKE, for a board of survey to control the construction and equipment of vessels; by Mr. NYE, providing for floating docks in Southern ports for repairs to vessels, authorizing the balances of unexpended appropriations to be taken for the purpose.

All were voted down.

Mr. DAWES made an argument in favor of the increase of pay of Lieutenants and officers below that rank. He submitted an amendment to that effect, which was rejected, the pay table remaining as reported from the Naval Committee.

The remaining amendments made in Committee of the Whole were concurred in and the bill passed.

Mr. MORRILL, of Maine, called up the fortification appropriation bill.

A motion to table was negatived—13 to 22.

The bill passed without debate.

Mr. TRUMBULL called up the bill to fix Tuesday after the first Monday of November as a uniform day for the election of Representatives to Congress, beginning in 1872.

Mr. HARLAN moved as an amendment the Apportionment bill fixing the number of Representatives at 300.

The only difference between the amendment and Apportionment bill as previously passed by the Senate is that the election for Representatives in the next Congress by general ticket, in the States having an increase or diminution of Representatives, is made positive instead of being left to the State Legislatures.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. ANTHONY moved that any State having a fraction of population exceeding one-half the amount required for a Representative, shall be entitled to an additional Representative. Adopted.

The bill was then passed. The amendments require the concurrence of the House.

Evening Session.—The report of the Committee of Conference on the army bill was discussed, and, on motion of Mr. CAMERON, tabled—yeas 29, nays 16.

Yeas—Messrs. Abbott, Ames, Boreman, Buckingham, Cameron, Carpenter, Cole, Corbett, Gilbert, Harland, Kellogg, Lewis, McDonald, Morrill (Me), Morrill (Vt.), Nye, Osborn, Patterson, Pomeroy, Rice, Robertson, Ross, Sawyer, Scott, Sherman, Stewart, Warner, Willey and Williams.

Nays—Messrs. Bayard, Casserly, Conkling, Cragin, Davis, Fowler, Harris, Howard, McCreery, Pratt, Ramsey, Spencer, Sprague, Sumner, Trumbull and Wilson.

Bills were passed concerning the arsenal grounds in St. Louis and authorizing the improvement of certain grounds owned by the United States in Buffalo.

Adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Senate amendment to House bill to incorporate the United States Freehold Land and Immigration Company, and to confirm certain legislation in Colorado Territory, was concurred in.

On motion of Mr. SCHENCK, the House insisted upon its amendments to the Funding bill, and agreed to a committee of conference.

The Senate amendments to the Tax bill were referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. DAVIS, New York, asked to have the Senate amendments to the Naturalization bill taken up.

Mr. FINKLENBURG would object, unless the amendments were to be concurred in.

Mr. DAVIS said he proposed to ask the House to non-concur, and moved the rules be suspended, the amendments non-concurred in and a committee of conference ordered.

The rules were not suspended—77 to 52, less than two-thirds in the affirmative.

The House resumed the consideration of the case of Patrick Woods, in custody for assault on the Porter, a member from Virgina.

Mr. BUTLER'S amendment to extend the term of imprisonement till the 4th of May next was rejected—yeas 88, nays 89.

A resolution reported by the minority; directing that Woods be immediately turned over to Hastings Court at Richmond, Va., was rejected—nays 50, yeas 120, a party vote.

The resolution of the majority of the Judiciary Committee, directing Woods to be imprisoned in the jail of the District of Columbia for three months, was agreed to—yeas 119, nays 57.

The Speaker announced Messrs. Schenck, Hooper (Mass.) and Brooks (N. Y.) a Committee of Conference on the Funding bill.

Mr. JUDD, from the Conference Committee on the Currency bill, made a report and proceeded to explain it. He ended his remarks by stating the adoption of the report was the only mode by which the South could obtain at this time banking facilities.

The report was agreed to—100 against 70.

A resolution to pay contestants for seats as follows: Henry D. Foster, $3,500; D. D. Simpson, $1,500, and Charles Whittlesey, $1,500, was adopted.

Mr. PAINE, from Committee on Elections, reported a resolution that the Arkansas contested case, Cameron against Roots, be tabled, and he would call it up before the close of the session.

Mr. HOOPER, from Committee of Ways and Means, reported a bill to promote trade with Prince Edwards Island. Ordered printed and recommitted. The bill fixes the duty on importations from Prince Edwards Island as follows: Barley, oats and potatoes five cents per bushel; horses and mules seven dollars per head; meat cattle five dollars per head; calves, sheep, goats and swine fifty cents per head; mackerel, the catch of inhabitants of Prince Edwards Island, one dollar per barrel; herring, of like catch, fifty cents per barrel—provided no light money or anchorage fees shall be changed in the ports and harbors of the island on American vessels, and that no regular packet between the island and United States shall be liable to pilot fees or dues in the island, except when pilots are actually taken; and provided further, that manufactures and producers of the United States shall be placed on the same footing and received into the island at the same duties as like products of Great Britain or of any of her dependencies. The second section makes the act subject to alteration, amendment or repeal at any time by Congress.

The House then took up the Missouri contested election case of Switzler against Dyer, the report of the majority being that Dyer, the sitting member, was not entitled to a seat, and that William F. Switzler, the contestant, is. The report of the minority was that Dyer was entitled to a seat.

After two hours discussion a substitute offered by Mr. CESSNA was agreed to—yeas 108, nays 55. So Dyer retains his seat.

Mr. CESSNA offered a resolution to pay Switzler $5,000. Adopted.

Mr. BROOKS, of New York, introduced a bill to incorporate the Tehuantepec Railway and Ship Canal Company. Referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

NEWS BY CABLE.

Protection of Foreigners in China—Subscriptions for the Sufferers by the Oneida-Bombay Calamity—The Threatened Complication Concerning the Spanish Throne—War Threatened—A Note Addressed by the French Government to Madrid.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

FRANCE.

PARIS, July 7.—The authorities here have been assured that fully three-fourths of the members of the Spanish Cortes are favorable to the elevation of the Prince of Hohenzollern to the Spanish Crown. There seems to be no doubt that the King of Prussia is also favorable to the project, and refuses any explanation.

PARIS, July 7.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs has received full confirmation of the massacre of French in Pekin. Instructions will be immediately sent to the Commander of the French fleet in Chinese waters. There will be no special expedition dispatched, as the naval force is deemed sufficient to vindicate the outraged dignity of France.

There is great agitation and activity in the foreign office. It is said scores of telegrams passed between Gen. Prim and Bismarck before the intrigue was discovered by the French minister at Berlin. It is not believed France would agree to a conference of the great powers on the question, as she desires to settle directly with Prussia and Spain. Austria so far maintains a strict neutrality on the question. It is asserted the French fleet will immediately sail, via Brest, for the Mediterranean.

Rumors that Prim has abandoned the candidature of Prince Hohenzollern, in view of the threatening opposition of France, are not confirmed. Prim wishes to have the direction of the Cortez on the question and insists the project is not hostile to France.

The Liberte demands that Prussia be forced by the European Congress, or by war, to give guarantees which will bind her not to interfere in the affairs of other nations. It calls on France to get possession of the Rheinish frontier, either by diplomacy or war.

The Gaulois publishes a second edition to retract its report that Prim had given way. The Gaulois states he still maintains the candidature of Prince Hohenzollern, but that the Spanish Minister here has telegraphed to Madrid that the project must be abandoned or there would be war.

Midnight.—It is reported that Olozaga, Spanish Minister, will receive his passports if the reply of Spain to the French dispatch, sent to Madrid to-day, is not favorable.

In the Corps Legislatif Minister Segris said the Government had received no communication on the Spanish question since yesterday.

A note is said to have been received here from Prussia, the substance of which is given as follows: Prince Hohenzollern is not a member of the royal family; Prussia did nothing to procure the offer of the Spanish crown for him; the consent of the King of Prussia to its acceptance will be given definitely only after a vote of the Cortes, and if the latter should elect a Hohenzollern, Prussia will support him.

Dispatches have been sent to St. Petersburg to obtain the advice of Russia on the candidature of Hohenzollern.

An important dispatch was sent by the Minister of Foreign Affairs to Serrano to-day.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, July 7.—Telegrams received from Pekin announce that order has been restored and measures were taken which will insure safety to all foreigners.

Subscriptions are circulating here and at Liverpool for a fund in aid of the families of the officers and sailors of the steamer Oneida, which was run down off Yokohama by the steamer Bombay. Sir John Lubbock, of London, is at the head of the movement, and it bids fair to be a success.

There is much excitement, not only here but on the continent, in view of the threatened European complication on the subject of Prince Leopold's candidature for the Spanish throne. Late dispatches from Paris say that there is a strong feeling in France, even outside of official circles, against the bestowal of the Spanish crown upon any Hohenzollern. The tranquilizing assurances of the French Emperor are having a beneficial effect in Paris, and particularly in the Bourse.

The Times denies that England favors Prince Hohenzollern for Spanish King. It denounces Prim's action, and hopes that the good sense of Prussia and Prince Hohenzollern will induce the withdrawal of the latter. The Standard does not anticipate war, but thinks the attitude of France sufficient to compel withdrawal. The Telegraph believes war will ensue if Prussia does not yield.

The Morning Post says the great powers will be disposed to sanction any energetic action on the part of France for the punishment of the Chinese.

The Augsburg Gazette says many Bishops at the Roman Council have renounced the right to hasten the decision of the infallibility dogma.

CORK, July 7.—The German tailors introduced here by employers have struck and joined the Irish.

CUBA.

HAVANA, July 6, via KEY WEST, July 7.—The Captain General will probably go to Santiago de Cuba. General Valmaseda has left Bayamo to go there also. Troops in the vicinity of Santiago de Cuba are acting altogether on the defensive. The officer in command at Santiago de Cuba had made a demand for reinforcements, but was unable to get any. Various reports represent positively that the Spanish troops were defeated in several engagements recently with the insurgent leaders Diaz and Gomeze. The situation of the Spaniards in the eastern department is unfavorable. The planters are holding meetings and nearly all of them refuse to obey the emancipation laws and will resist freeing their slaves. A large amount of money is being raised to send to Spain in order to avoid the execution of the law and to secure its repeal.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, July 7.—All the semi-official journals here are silent on the Spanish imbroglio, with the exception of the North German Gazette. This paper professes to have learned for the first time, from the declaration of M. Grammont, that any Prince of the House of Hohenzollern had accepted Prim's offer of the Spanish crown, and it fails to understand the talk about war indulged in by Ollivier yesterday in the French Chamber.

SPAIN.

MADRID, July 7.—The Tempo and Epoca, which support Don Alfonso, and other journals, join in the outcry against Prussian alliance. The partisans of Prim press it as the last resort for Spain.

EGYPT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 7.—The Viceroy of Egypt has arrived here. He is well received by the Sultan.

—Among the arrangements which have been repudiated since the Vanderbilt party acquired a controlling influence in the affairs of the Lake Shore Road is said to be one by which the Erie line was to be allowed to run into the Union depot at Cleveland, on condition that Gould and Fisk abandoned the project of building a through line to Chicago. Having been notified of the nullification of this agreement by Vanderbilt, Gould and Fisk have, it is said, entered into arrangements for the immediate commencement of the continuation of the Erie and Atlantic and Great Western lines to Chicago from Cleveland. The new Erie extension will wind along the Lake Shore to Sandusky and Toledo, from which latter point it will strike out for Chicago by an air line. It is asserted that the project meets with great favor throughout the west and leading capitalists of Cleveland and Chicago. Other prominent men interested in the sections to be benefitted by the opening of the new line have agreed to subscribe all the capital required, providing the line be commenced immediately.

—The most interesting discussion in Ohio State Teachers Association, at Columbus, yesterday, was on the best method of conducting county examinations of teachers. A resolution was adopted favoring a law for the appointment of County Superintendents of schools. The following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, A. C. Denel, Urbana; Recording Secretary, J. F. Lukins, of Kent; Corresponding Secretary, U. P. Curren, of Cincinnati; Treasurer, T. C. Mendenhall, of Columbus; Auditor, C. R. Strong, of Cincinnati. Five Presidents were elected, among them two ladies. The teachers last night had a reception at the deaf and dumb asylum. The association meets next year at Sandusky.

WASHINGTON, July 7, 1870.

ARCTIC EXPEDITION.

The Conference Committee on the bill making an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars to aid in the fitting out of an expedition of discovery to the Arctic regions, agreed yesterday to make the amount fifty thousand dollars. The bill allows the President to select the commanders of the expedition, and authorizes the Secretary of the Navy to detail two vessels for its use.

GENERAL AMNESTY.

In the Reconstruction Committee a motion to report a general amnesty bill, for action this session, was lost by a tie vote, the Committee standing five to five. As there were some absentees, it is possible that this action may be reconsidered at a future meeting. Some Southern members announce their intention to test the sense of the House upon the subject by introducing Butler's bill, and asking a vote on it under a motion to suspend the rules.

NEW YORK APPOINTMENTS.

The Senate Committee on Commerce this evening held a meeting to consider the New York Custom House nominations. They were referred to appropriate committees. A motion to confirm Mr. Hillhouse as Assistant Treasurer, without reference, was objected to by the friends of Mr. Murphy. There was only an informal consultation by the Committee on Commerce to-night on the case of Murphy and Grinnell. The examination of objections to them will be commenced Saturday.

HAS NOT RESIGNED.

Rumors that Secretary Fish has tendered his resignation are untrue. He would like to retire from the position, but will remain at the request of the President. He has no wish for the English mission, preferring to remain at home. Therefore the name of another gentleman it is believed will soon be sent to the Senate as Minister to England.

INDIAN VISITORS.

Red Feather, Little Swan, Black Tomahawk and other chiefs, composing a delegation from bands of Sioux near Fort Sully, visited the capitol this P. M.

CONFIRMED.

The Senate to-day confirmed William T. Singleton as Assessor First District, West Virginia; Henry W. Scott, Collector of Customs, Willamette, Oregon.

RETURNED.

The President returned this morning and engaged in official duties.

Fight Between Pawnees and Sioux—Another Between Utes and Cheyennes—Massacre of Miners—Horrible Brutalities.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

OMAHA, July 7.—A letter to the Omaha Herald, from Pawnee Reserve, states that on the 22d Captain Egan, with a small detachment of troops, encountered a war party of the Sioux, who had made a successful raid upon the Pawnees, running off eleven horses. He captured from them all the stock, robes, &c., taken from the Pawnees. On the return of the troops, the Pawnees gave chase to the Sioux, who halted and gave them battle. The Pawnees were forced to retreat with a loss of one killed and four wounded.

CHEYENNE, July 7.—A party of twenty prospectors, who left here for the Snake river mines three weeks ago, returned to-day. They witnessed a fight between the Utes and Cheyennes in North Park, and probably owe their lives to the fact of the Indians fighting among themselves. On July 4th they found the body of Mr. Shipman, at Independence Mountain, in front of his cabin. He was shot twice, scalped, two axes driven into his head, and his body mutilated in a manner too horrible and disgusting to mention in print. Eighty miles northwest of here, at North Platte Ferry, they found the bodies of two more miners, mutilated in like manner—names unknown. The Indians perpetrating these murders are undoubtedly Cheyennes.

FULLER PARTICULARS.

LARAMIE CITY, WY., July 7.—The Laramie Sentinel of the 7th says: After dark last night a man came into Sherman station from North Park and reported there had been a horrible massacre of white miners by the Utes. The report as it comes to us is, that a party of Cheyennes came in there and the Utes went to the miners to get them to help fight the Cheyennes, but they refused. A fight then occurred between the Utes and Cheyennes, which lasted some five hours, when the latter fled. Then the Utes went at the miners and killed all they could find of them. Our informant states that he buried three killed at John Gilman's cabin, or near it. One was a man named Chipman, who was sick and in the care of Mr. Van Dyke, from whom we published a letter a few days ago. We did not learn the names of the others. They were all very much mangled and their heads chopped to pieces. Up to the present writing, Vandyke has not been heard from, though his coat and hat were found at his cabin. In the present state of excitement it is difficult to get at the facts, but we regard it as certain the Utes have broken out upon us and several have been killed over at the Park.

Later reports say that the North Park massacre is undoubtedly true.

Kiowas, Camanches, Arraphoes and Cheyennes on the War Path.

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—The Democrat has a letter from Fort Sill, Indian Territory, stating that the Kiowas, Camanches, Arrapahoes and part of the Cheyenne Indians are on the war path, and detailing quite a number of depredations committed by them, in which several white men were killed and a large number of mules and cattle run off. The Quaker agent was obliged to arm his employes and call for troops to defend his agency.

Report of the Lecture Committee—Young Men's Mercantile Library Association.

To the President of the Young Men's Mercantile Library Association of Pittsburgh:

On behalf of the Lecture Committee for 1869-70, I beg leave to hand you herewith a report of their operations during the past season.

Before proceeding to a detailed report, it may not be improper to state that your committee has labored under some disadvantages, which may have somewhat tended to lessen the receipts from the course of lectures. But notwithstanding these, (to which allusion will hereafter be made,) the result cannot fail to be gratifying, as showing the firm hold which we have upon the affections of the public, which has so generously patronized us.

In addition to our own course, there was one given by an association which appealed directly to the patriotism of the public; and this, together with an unusual number of other very attractive entertainments, some of which occurred on the same evenings on which our lectures were given, doubtless had some effect upon our receipts. Besides this, our profits may have been somewhat diminished by the fact that your committee determined, after very mature deliberation, to discontinue a custom which had prevailed for many years, viz.: the sale of reserved seats for some of the lectures. This custom had not only involved a great amount of labor, but, as we felt assured, had failed to give that satisfaction to the public which was its object. It was not without some hesitation that we commenced our course with this resolve, but the result has fully justified our procedure; and we venture to recommend a similar course to our successors. Pecuniarily, we think the difference is but little.

In making arrangements for our course of lectures, we endeavored to secure the very best talent that could be obtained, and these efforts were not altogether unsuccessful, although many distinguished persons with whom we corresponded, were obliged to decline on account of other pressure of engagements.

During the season your committee has given eighteen lectures and readings, as follows:

1869, November 1—Mark Twain, "Our Fellow Savages—the Sandwich Islanders."
November 4 and 5—George Vandenhoff, "Select Readings."
November 18—Henry Vincent, "Life and Times of Queen Elizabeth."
November 23—Col. D. W. Powel, "Cannons of the Colorado."
November 30—Rev. W. H. Wilburn, "What a Blind Man saw in Paris."
December 20—Bayard Taylor "Reform and Art."
December 28—Miss Kate Field, "Among the Adirondacks."
1870, January 10—Theodore Tilton, "The Right Use of the Mind."
January 18—Miss Annie E. Dickinson, "Whited Sepulchres."
January 22—Miss Annie E. Dickinson, "Down Brakes."
January 27—Capt. O. F. Hall, "My Search for Sir John Franklin."
February 3—Miss Augusta D. Dargon, "Select Readings."
February 22—James E. Murdock, "Abraham Lincoln."
February 24—James E. Murdock, "Select Readings."
March 10—Wendell Phillips, "Daniel O'Connell."
March 21—John B. Gough, "Curiosity."
March 25—John B. Gough, "Lights and Shadows of London Life."

The lecture course, for many years past, has been one of the most prominent and profitable features of the Association, until it has almost become a necessity to those who seek instruction combined with pleasure. Hereafter the Association will have such advantages in the matter of hall accommodation (which has always been a great drawback) that our successors cannot fail to greatly increase their receipts from this source, and make this a valuable adjunct to the Association.

Your committee cannot close this brief report without expressing their indebtedness to the city press (both secular and religious) for their uniform courtesy and kindness, and the extension of every facility for the furtherance of the success of the course.

Very respectfully submitted,
WM. N. HOWARD,
Chairman of Lecture Committee.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Collier.

THURSDAY, July 7.—Thomas Diaset was indicted for receiving stolen goods knowing them to have been stolen. Jury out.

Martin O'Connor was found guilty on a charge of fornax et cet. Sentence deferred.

M. Lipp plead nolle contendre to an indictment for assault and battery.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. J. K. Williams, indicted for assault and battery, was settled on payment of costs by the defendant.

James Guest was tried for the larceny of a mallet and stone cutter's tools from Mr. Toms. The jury found a verdict of guilty in the manner and form indicted. There is another indictment pending against him.

John Grady plead guilty to a charge of exhibiting obscene pictures in the Allegheny Diamond. He was sentenced to the work house for thirty days.

Peter Weyman and James Grant were indicted for robbing William Wanner. The prosecutor, a German, was sitting on the steps at the Sharpsburgh railroad station, and the defendants, it is alleged, robbed him of $20. A verdict of guilty was returned. Sentence deferred.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

—It is reported that Minister Bancroft will be recalled from Berlin.

—The story of the capture of an American fishing vessel in Canadian waters was a hoax.

—Prince Arthur embarked on the Crocodile at Quebec, Wednesday evening, for England.

—Professor Raymond and several teachers and students of Vassar College, New York, have returned to St. Louis from their trip to Colorado.

—Hon. Mark H. Dunnell has received the Republican nomination for Congress from the Thirteenth Minnesota District. Wilson, Democrat, is the present Representative.

—Reports of mining in New Mexico are very much improved—the ditches are full and more gold being taken out then ever before. Track laying from east ward on the K. P. R. R. commenced on Tuesday. The road is to be completed in six weeks.

—Hugh Daugherty, of the steam fire engine Vigilant, Philadelphia, died from injuries by being thrown from his seat during a race with the United States, the two engines colliding. Robert Lloyd, driver of the carriage, was also injured and the carriage demolished by the Vigilant running into it after Daugherty was thrown off.

—Judge Barnard, at New York, yesterday enjoined the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad from using any influence or solicitation to send passengers or freight over the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad in preference to the Erie, and from giving the patrons of one road any favor or advantage which it does not extend to others.

—David A. Wells, in a letter to A. T. Stewart, estimates the adverse balance on all accounts, apart from specie exports for the year, at $182,000,000. The export of specie for the first ten months was nearly $22,000,000, and may amount to $25,000,000 for the whole year. The net increase of our indebtedness to Europe during the year was therefore $157,000,000, represented by exports of national and state securities and of railroad bonds. The amount of American obligations of all kinds now held in Europe can scarcely be less than $1,500,000,000.

GAZETTE BUILDING:

FRIDAY, JULY 8, 1870.

BONDS at Frankfort 95½.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp, 53½.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 111⅛@111¼.

A SCOTSMAN thinks that the Kirk and politics don't go well together; the bolting convention thought so, too, and so likewise think all honest men.

RED CLOUD is gathering together his savage clans to make war on the settlers of the frontier. After he shall have committed atrocities of the darkest imaginable character we may have less admirers hereabouts for the eloquent and wronged noble red men.

THE ORGAN of the sore heads is more profoundly convinced since they held their Convention on Wednesday, that they will only have a "controlling influence" in "the result next fall," and surrender political dominancy in the county to the Democrats. This they wish to do for the sake of free trade.

WHICH? The organ of the bolters' ring said yesterday: "The delegates chosen at the primary meetings on Saturday, met in the District Court Room." Professor Thomson said in the Convention: "In many districts not even the form of an election was gone through." Which statement is the correct one?

THE Commercial says delegates met in Convention on Wednesday, "pursuant to the call for an Independent Republican organization." The committee of five claim to be in the Republican party. Can they maintain allegiance to the Republican party and an "Independent organization," or does their own organ misrepresent them?

WHILE some excellent private citizens have been placed on the bolters' ticket, it does not as a whole compare more than favorably with those put in nomination in past years by the Republican party. In the temporal wealth of the nominees, the bolters' ticket may hold advantage, but so far as honesty, brains and strict integrity to principles are concerned it has none over our previous tickets.

GEN. O. O. HOWARD, the soldier and Christian who has been charged with abusing his high position in the Freedmen's Bureau, is about to be fully exonerated by the report of the Congressional Investigating Committee. The scandal loving correspondents caught the wrong gentleman in their meshes when they attempted to blacken the reputation of one so eminently worthy the confidence of his fellow citizens.

THE great "central Junta," which demanded of President Grant the right to decree the nominations to Federal offices in Western Pennsylvania, announced yesterday that "the delegates were neither office-holders, office-seekers, nor politicians." Messrs. Carnahan, Kirk, Carothers and Egan were delegates in the Convention and controlled its proceedings. Did they never hold or seek an office? The Commercial evidently believes that "the sin of an untruth is in pinching it!"

THE DOGMA of Papal Infallibility is still shrouded in much mystery and the outside world knows little of what is going on within the debating halls of the Ecumenical Council. The reluctance on the part of the prelates to adopt this unpopular doctrine is fully evidenced in their tedious consideration of its merits and demerits. Should its friends succeed in securing its adoption there will much trouble arise in the Catholic Church, for the opposition engendered against the unppoular dogma will assume serious proportions.

IT IS a very remarkable fact that notwithstanding the pressing need for reform in the regular Republican party, as asserted by the bolters, the Convention on Wednesday polled respectable votes for Negley (15), Howard (8), Walton (47), Humphreys (13), White (37), Kerr (25), Millar (24), Walter (10). Now all these gentlemen at the present time hold office under election of the regular Republican party. If they are so bad why award them any votes? But more, Joseph Walton and D. N. White were re-nominated to the Legislature. This action goes to show that at the last Republican nominating convention some good men at least, in the opinion of the insurgents, were sent to Harrisburg; and it shows the hollowness of the cry for reform.

THE COOLEST ASSERTION we have ever heard was that made by Ring Master Carnahan in his inaugural before the bolters' convention, on Wednesday, when he said:

> "The object is to put the business of making public nominations for the offices under the direction and control of public sentiment. The principal object, I may say, is to bring the masses of the party more actively into the business of making nominations than they hitherto have been."

This, in view of the way the delegates received their appointments to represent the people, in full knowledge that the speaker and a select coterie of friends made and framed the ticket put through the Convention, is about as cool a thing as the atmosphere about the North Pole. Never in the history of our local politics was a greater ring swindle perpetrated on the community, than the nominating in the name of the great Republican party of the ticket put forward on Wednesday by the self-constituted delegates, who elected themselves or were appointed by a select committee of five to represent the people.

THE WEAKNESS OF THE MOVEMENT.

A glance at the proceedings of the "Independent" Republican Convention will suffice to show any one acquainted with Allegheny politics how utterly weak and contemptible, in point of numbers and political power, is the bolting movement.

There are now 110 election districts in the county. Out of these only 51 were represented in that Convention, in any way, nominal or otherwise, leaving 59 unrepresented districts.

Considering that, wherever the leaders of this movement could find even one man in any district in favor of their bolt they forced him into their Convention, without credentials or any other evidence that he represented any one but himself, the inference is a fair one that there was not one man in any or all of the remaining 59 districts in favor of this attempt to disrupt the Republican party.

Even in the two cities, where men are so accessible, and where the delegates could readily have been obtained if there had been any dissatisfaction with the Republican organization, there were nine districts in which not one man could be found to respond to the call of Carnahan, Kirk & Co., and the same is true of six of the adjacent boroughs—making fifteen districts within a mile or two of the Court House that still present an unbroken Republican party.

But further. Of the fifty-one districts that were nominally represented in the Convention, eight were represented by but one man from each, showing that in these eight districts these eight men could find no colleagues—no one to keep them company, and stood absolutely alone. They represented their own eight votes and nothing more.

Of the remaining forty-three districts, six were represented by sound, true-blue Republicans, who intend to stand by the ticket to be nominated on the 30th of August next. They went in there in the hope of being able to prevent a disruption, or, failing in that, to secure the nomination of men acceptable to the whole party. They failed to accomplish what they aimed at, but the fact remains that these six districts were not represented by bolters, and are not, therefore, to be included in the count of districts containing persons friendly to the disruption movement.

We have thus fifty-nine districts containing not a single bolter; six that were represented in the Convention by old-liners; and eight in each of which but one bolter could be found—making 73 out of 110 districts in which but eight disaffected persons could be found.

Let us now dissect the representation of the other 37 districts. In the 3d, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 11th, 12th, 14th, 15th, 17th and 22nd wards of Pittsburgh; the first, second precinct of the 4th, 5th and 6th wards of Allegheny, and the townships of Robinson and Scott, no meetings were held and no delegates were appointed. Those who represented these districts in the convention were self-appointed. They represented themselves, and themselves only. Of these eighteen districts we speak from the card. We have made the necessary inquiries, and we may say with all possible confidence that we know these things are so. Most probably several others of the remaining nineteen districts were in the same predicament; but as we cannot speak advisedly concerning them, we will concede, for the sake of the argument, that there was a constituency in each of them to represent.

The facts we have brought out may be represented thus, in tabular form:

Districts not represented in Convention	59
Districts represented by old liners	6
Districts represented by one self-appointed delegate each	8
Districts represented by two self-appointed delegates	18
Districts represented by delegates with constituencies	19
Total	110

It will thus be seen that only 19 out of 110 districts were really represented in the Convention—less than one-fifth of the county; and the highest vote polled at any one of these was 37; varying from that to 22, 17, 14, 13, 10, and even down to 8. The ward in which the editor of the Commercial wields his influence rallied but ten votes to his support.

So weak and insignificant a movement was never begun in Allegheny county. In old times, when the formation of third-party tickets was chronic in this county, the bolters could always do better than this. Even John Farrell, with his Agrarian party, could make as good a showing as the "Independents."

A FAILURE.

After the miserable exhibition which the bolters made on Wednesday in their mock convention, our readers, we are sure, will agree with us that it is not worth while to take any further notice of them. Honest and disinterested men have not the least hesitation in pronouncing the whole affair an egregious blunder and most perfect failure. But as the substance of the following remarks was crowded out of yesterday's issue, we purpose this morning to say a very few words.

Every person who looked in upon the convention seems to have been struck with the fact that there was no enthusiasm among the delegates. They were under the influence of no animating spirit. Their lack of enthusiasm to us seems quite natural. There was nothing to quicken, but everything to depress their spirits. The members were the mere representatives of themselves. The people did not delegate them, and had not furnished them even with the complimentary credentials of a vote. We are prepared to prove by one of the delegates that the only credentials he had was a private request made by one of the incorruptible five that he would attend as a member of the Convention. This would not have been so outrageous if both the gentlemen lived in the same district. But they do not. They are citizens of different wards. Could there be enthusiasm among men who held a lie in their right hand, and attempted to impose upon the people by holding themselves forth as their representatives, when the truth is they had delegated one another?

Lack of numbers, too, had a dampening influence on the disorganizers. Their mouth-piece had filled their minds with the hope that the whole people would assemble with them, but the paucity of delegates had a most depressing effect upon them, and the more depressing because of the lofty expectations with which they had been inspired.

Then there was an almost entire absence of the "heavy" men, upon whose "checks" they relied more, than upon their influence. We have already given, in these columns, the reasons why these millionaires have not attended any of the meetings of the new party. They will not consent to the obliteration of the lines which separate Republicanism from Democracy. But we have been assured that there are other reasons assigned by them. It is alleged that they have declared they would not follow in the lead of "dolts," "vulgar upstarts," and designing men, whose only object is to form a ring by the force of which they hope to be elevated to offices of trust and emolument, and made distinguished. These declarations have sorely disheartened the would-be leaders.

That there were some very honest and respectable men in the Convention—men who would not accept either of an office or a bribe—we are willing to admit. But it is evident that the men of this stamp who were present, had no sympathy with those who are fomenting strife and division in the party. This some of them evinced by publicly withdrawing from the room, earnestly protesting as they made their egress against the tyranny and hypocrisy of the Committee of five men who had "set up" the delegates and "packed" the Convention! Others showed it by quietly withdrawing, giving utterance to their friends as they took their departure, to such declarations as the following: "We have got enough of reform of that kind. That is the worst ring ever we got into. Tyranny and corruption of the worst kind reign supreme there." The withdrawal of such men was sufficient to superinduce the torpor of political death.

These prators have been complaining bitterly of the tyranny of executive committees and the one man power. But both were heartily endorsed by them in deliberate convention on Wednesday. The chairman was solely entrusted with the power of appointing an executive committee of twenty-one, who were authorized "to fill any vacancies occurring in the ticket nominated." This looks likes a reformation of abuses!

But what is meant by filling "vacancies that may occur in the ticket?" Does the power of filling vacancies which has been vested in the Executive Committee indicate that the gentlemen nominated would not accept? We are of the opinion that most of them have more respect for themselves and the Republican party, than to accept of a nomination from men upon whose every act in connection with the movement, from its first inception till the present time, fraud has been inscribed in flaming characters.

The "Committee" are "to fill vacancies." Well, this will be no greater act of tyranny and usurpation than the five men have been guilty of who nominated and elected delegates from every district where they could find any that they could flatter or coerce into their service. By way of reforming existing abuses everything is to be done by a committee, so that the people may be relieved from all trouble and anxiety. Everything will be safe in the hands of the Chairman. Blessed as he is with great flexibility of political intellect, he can with equal ease pronounce an eulogy on the loyal and immortal Lincoln, or the renegade and treacherous Johnson. The people are safe in the hands of the chairman and the committee he may appoint.

The revolutionists have brought a heavy charge against the Republican Executive Committee because they did not call the Convention for an earlier day. One object, and the principal one no doubt, in postponing the Convention till the latter end of August, was that a better attendance might be secured of the country delegates. These are the very persons whom the bolters don't want. Men coming from the rural districts are honest and free from political chicanery. That the bolters might get rid of the incubus of men of upright character from the country, they held their Convention in the very midst of harvest time. But all their manuvering and trickery will avail nothing. Those delegates from the country who attended the convention on Wednesday, did not go away very favorably impressed with the sincerity and disinterestedness of the men by whom they had been cajoled to leave their farms, and come to the city to drive the ploughshare of reform through the corruptions that abound in the politics of the county. We venture to say that many of these men will be ashamed to acknowledge they were at the convention at all, and will endeavor to make a new cradle, or machine knife, serve as an excuse for coming to "the Pit" at this particular time.

We have made the above remarks for the sole purpose of preventing our friends from being imposed upon by the false representations that have been given of the "gratifying progress" of the new party. The Convention has been a complete failure.

REPUBLICANS, THINK!

Ever since the first outgiving that there existed within the ranks of the Republican party a band of conspirators engaged in plotting its overthrow and destruction, the Post, with true political tact and sagacity, has labored hard to ripen the rebellion by encouraging the rebels. It vied with its less formidable anti-Republican contemporary, in denouncing the leaders of the party, the administration of National, State and local affairs, and called as loud as the loudest for "reform" in our household. Its part of the programme to disintegrate and ruin the Republican party has been well and faithfully performed, and although not altogether pleased with the no very flattering result as witnessed in the usurping convention and its action, it now shows its hand and patiently awaits to pull the fruit of the disaffection it has helped the Commercial to bring about, in a Democratic victory in old Allegheny county. After referring to the action of the renegade Republican convention, the Post says:

> "It will be the duty of the Democratic party, to use all honorable means to defeat both of them, for to sympathize with one as against the other, would simply be to jump out of the frying pan into the fire.
> "Hence we call upon our Democratic friends to stand aloof from both factions, and allow them to quarrel and fight out their own battles in their own way."

Thoughtful Post! It is willing that the fat oyster of success should fall into the stomach of its party, while the shells are left to the contending Republicans. Will good and true men be deceived in lending any respectable support to the third party when the game is so transparent on the part of disaffected Republicans and Democratic leaders to accomplish that which could not be effected in any honorable or legitimate manner? That Democratic and other influences, which we will hereafter show, have been brought to bear in this locality to bring about the ruin of the predominate party, is now a matter of no doubt whatever. Will any sane citizen be caught in the trap? Now is the time for calm thought and dispassionate consideration. The bolters have done their utmost. They have put forward a ticket for Republican support. They will get some votes. How many? Certainly not enough to elect any one of their candidates, but they might in some instances carry enough thoughtless and indifferent people with them to secure a partial Democratic victory, and to impair the success of the entire party throughout the Commonwealth. Hence, it follows, that each and every vote cast with the bolters is virtually a blow at the regular Republican organization and a ballot in favor of Democratic rule. The candid voter—imbued with the principles held and advocated by the party that wiped out the curse of slavery, fought and crushed rebellion, lifted an oppressed race from bondage, and clothed them in the full rights of citizenship, spanned the continent with railways, brought peace, happiness and contentment to our whole people, preserving all the while the most peaceful relations with the outside world, and finally the party that is now faithfully and zealously collecting the revenues and discharging the great war debt of the nation—if he would only pause, think and consider the consequences of a misplaced vote at a critical time like this, he would cling more tenaciously than ever to the great Republican party. We have confidence in the people. Thus far they have religiously shunned the disorganizers and so they will continue to do till the last of the political rebels and traitors are buried in the grave of oblivion where a Republican triumph will consign them next fall.

THE GERMAN SENTIMENT.

In speaking of the third party movement the Volksblatt, an able German contemporary, says:

> There is no objection to be made to the principles of the reformers. But the bolters have seized upon a false remedy with which to cure the evil. Above all things, as we have already said, should they have waited to see what the Republican county convention would do, before they rebelled against a (real or supposed) wrong. Then the organization of a third party was the most foolish thing they could have done. Even if this third party had unfolded any strength at all, it could have done nothing further than split the Republican party and thus give the victory to the Democrats. But now we must confess that after the proofs we have received, the Democratic party of Allegheny county has no claims to the character of a reform party. It is not our taste to jump out of the frying pan into the fire. And finally, the programme of the so called reform party is so muddled and its composition so mixed that we do not find it at all to our taste. One can call any thing "Reform," but if it be really an improvement is another question.
>
> For these reasons we have kept our distance from the thing, and given our friends the same advice. The Republican party ought now to show that it can correct its own failures, and wash its own dirty linen within its own family. It ought to select the best men within it for the public offices.

A Card from Hon. Thomas Howard.

PITTSBURGH, July 7, 1870.

MESSRS. EDITORS OF GAZETTE—Gentlemen: I see by the papers of this morning that my name was before the Republican Reform Convention that met yesterday, as a candidate for State Senate. I desire to say that I never authorized any person to use my name in that Convention. It is well known that I am a candidate for re-nomination for State Senate by the regularly called Republican Convention that meets in August. I should very much regret any action on the part of our party friends that would disturb the harmony and unity of the Republican party. As this is the year of the census, and apportionment of the State, it is of the highest importance that our party should be united. The loss of two State Senators will place that body in the hands of our opponents. Respectfully yours,

THOS. HOWARD.

A Card from Geo. D. Riddle.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Please allow me to say through your columns that my name was used before the Convention of yesterday without my consent, and that I was in no way connected with the movement.

I, however, return thanks to my friends who were in the Convention for the complimentary vote given me, and hereby announce that I am a candidate for Prothonotary of Allegheny county, subject to the regular Republican County Convention.

Yours respectfully,
GEO. D. RIDDLE.

Outrage in Arizona.

The San Francisco Bulletin says the devilish Indians opened the summer campaign last week in a vigorous way. Friday afternoon last, after our paper had gone to press, they made a descent upon a herd of fifty-seven cattle belonging to A. G. Dunn, of this place, wounded the herder, a Mr. Taylor, in the hand, and started the cattle at a brisk run for the mountains. This outrage was committed in open day, at a place about midway between Fort Whipple and Prescott, and not over half a mile from either place. Upon being wounded the herder ran to Mr. Dunn's house and gave the alarm. Word was immediately sent to Fort Whipple, and a force of cavalry, led by Lieut. J. C. Graham, was at once dispatched after the robbers. In the meantime, Messrs. Dunn, Griffin, and others set out on the trail. By night thirty-seven head of cattle were recaptured and driven back to town. Next morning six more were found, five of which number were dead, having been slain by the savages. One, a heifer, which the Indians had wounded and partly skinned, was still alive when found by Messrs. Dunn and Griffin. Lieut. Graham and men kept on after the savages, never stopping until they had reached the Agua Frio Ranch. The Lieutenant then sent some of his men back to Whipple for rations, which were immediately sent him. He then started toward Black Canon, near which place he succeeded in killing two Indians and destroying a rancheria containing a large quantity of mescal. He is still out, and it is hoped that he may strike some more of the savages. The Indians got away with twelve head of cattle, killing six, and left Mr. Dunn with thirty-nine head. This is not the first time the red devils have robbed Dunn.

Infallibility.

"The most faithful adherents of the Curia among the German and French Bishops struggle against the new dogma. Cardinal Schwarzenberg has uselessly declared that in Bohemia the Catholics will be driven first to schism and then to Protestantism. Ketteler of Mayence has shown that a revolution must follow this forced centralization in the Church; Dupanloup and Darboy have proved that moral unanimity is necessary in a decree of the Council; the English Bishop, Clifford, has stated that the bitterest enemies of the Church in England hope for the proclamation of the dogma; Simor, Primate of Hungary, a devoted friend of the Holy Chair, as well as the Roumanian Archpishop Joh, have condemned the doctrine; Vansza of Siebenburgen has declared that the announcement of the fatal dogma would drive his nation out of the Church; but all these protestations are of no avail. The doctrine has found its zealous defenders in Cardinal Cullen of Dublin, Manning of Westminster, and Dechamps of Malinas, fanatics who do not hesitate to call their opponents bad Christians, wavering members of the Church, and men of doubtful orthodoxy. To the fanatical party also belong nearly all the 276 Italian Bishops and the 43 Cardinals; 120 Archbishops and Bishops in partibus, with 51 Abbots and Superiors of Orders. Now, if all the 265 Bishops in the rest of Europe were perfectly unanimous, and firmly resolved to emancipate themselves from the tutelege of the Papacy—which is far from being the case—they would still be outvoted by the Bishops of the Italian peninsula alone. What the decision of the Council will be cannot therefore be doubted."

A Remarkable Shirt.

Editors have a first rate time in Texas. The ladies of a town out there have given to the editor of the paper an embroidered shirt which contains a pictorial history of Texas, including the war with Mexico, and the meeting of the first Legislature, and also pictures of the fruits and cereals of the State, all worked in red worsted. The editor never wore a shirt in his life, and he thought it was a banner for the temperance procession which was to come off the next week. So he made a little speech of thanks, in which he said he would "fling it out forever to the breezes of heaven, that they might kiss its folds, and that until his hand palsied it should never be trailed in the dust—never!" The ladies didn't understand him; and when he talked about its trailing they blushed, and said they were very sorry they made it too long. But a committeeman took the editor aside and explained the shirt to him in a whisper, and the next day he appeared at the office with that shirt mounted over his coat and wrote four columns of explanation for his paper. The shirt is much admired by the boys of the town, and whenever the editor goes out for a walk they follow him in regiments, studying the history of Texas and the fine arts off the back of it.

An Unfortunate Centenarian.

[From the Buffalo Express, July 4.]

Yesterday Mrs. Jane Larkin, aged one hundred and six years, born in county Mayo, Ireland, was roaming the streets in search of employment. She arrived in this country some seventeen months since, having been sent for by her children, who preceeded her to this country. These children consisted of four sons, who after their arrival here accumulated sufficient money to send for their mother and provide for her support. But sad to relate, between the day of her sailing and the present time, three of these young men have met with a violent death, and the fourth, it is feared, has shared the same fate. One of the boys was killed in an elevator in this city, another on a steamboat plying between Cincinnati and St. Louis, the third in a railroad collision, while the fourth, who left the city a while since for the West, has not since been heard from. The old lady is very active, and seems to be competent to earn her living, and her misfortunes will yet excite the sympathy of some charitable person as far as to give her a home, even if her energy does not procure it for her.

A MOST unusual occurrence took place in Paris a few days ago. Some young mother, desiring to keep her conscience clear of infanticide, and yet dispose of her child, bethought herself of a most poetical method of throwing her offspring on the mercy of the world. Baby was tucked up in a little car and sent up in a parachute for the winds to carry where they listed. What goes up must come down, and the miniature balloon with its precious freight finally alighted in the streets of Paris, with its contents as fresh, if not as welcome, as the flowers of May. The winds had been merciful to the infant, and a label attached signified that it had been committed to the care of Providence. The Empress is said to have adopted the little waif, and placed it in one of the charitable institutions of Paris.

DICKENS IN CAMP.

BY F. BRETT HARTE.

Above the pines the moon was slowly drifting,
The river sang below;
The dim Sierras, far beyond, uplifting
Their minarets of snow:

The roaring campfire, with rude humor, painted
The ruddy tints of health
On haggard face and form that drooped and fainted
In the fierce race for wealth;

Till one arose, and from his pack's scant treasure
A hoarded volume drew,
And cards were dropped from hands of listless leisure
To hear the tale anew.

And then, while round them shadows gathered faster,
And as the fire-light fell,
He read aloud the book wherein the Master
Had writ of "Little Nell."

Perhaps 'twas boyish fancy—for the reader
Was youngest of them all—
But, as he read, from clustering pine and cedar
A silence seemed to fall;

The fir-trees gathering closer in the shadows,
Listened in every spray,
While the whole camp, with "Nell" on English meadows
Wandered and lost their way.

And so in mountain solitudes—o'ertaken
As by some spell divine—
Their cares dropped from them like the needles shaken
From out the gusty pine.

Lost is that camp, and wasted all that fire;
And he who wrought that spell?—
Ah, towering pine and stately Kentish spire,
Ye have one tale to tell!

Lost is that camp! but let its fragrant story
Blend with the breath that thrills
With hop-vines' incense all the pensive glory
That fills the Kentish hills.

And on that grave where English oak, and holly,
And laurel wreaths entwine,
Deem it not all a too presumptuous folly—
This spray of Western pine!

—Overland Monthly.

THE Louisville Commercial says Judge Craig, in charging the grand jury the other day, in a lengthy speech, pompously remarked, "Kentuckians are an imperial race! They have always set their faces against law-breaking and law-breakers!" In recalling the scores of murderers and villains that have gone unhung and unpunished in this city, in the past few years, we are at a loss to reconcile this assertion with the facts. It may be that Kentuckians are so imperial, and have set their faces against law-breakers to such an extent that they are unwilling to have anything to do with a criminal beyond acquitting him, and leaving him to the terrible burden of a guilty conscience. In the meantime, a chap that can't see it so finely, might be inclined to exclaim, "Bosh!"

A BROADSIDE FOR HUMBUGS.

Incompetence and assurance generally go hand in hand, and of all the tribes of pretentious know-nothings with which society is afflicted, the unscientific "medicine men" who attempt to tamper with the health of the community are the most dangerous and the most impudent.

So much by way of Text. Now for a special and particular application.

It appears that a mushroom growth of so-called "Bitters" is springing up under different names in various localities, particularly in the Southern and Western States, which the venders have the hardihood to recommend to easy-going people, upon whom they think they can impose, as a substitute for Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, long recognized by every class as the purest and best medicated stimulant and invigorant the world affords.

The concoctions referred to being composed of worthless material, offer a larger margin for profit than that Celebrated Tonic, and hence the anxiety of dollar worshipping dealers to foist them upon the public in its place.

But "forewarned is forearmed," and all parties whom these distinguished (!) beings are endeavoring to coax and inveigle into substituting trash for a standard remedy, are hereby informed of the selfish and sordid motives which underlie the representations in question.

The great popularity and vast sales of Hostetter's Bitters cannot, of course, be seriously impaired by these "tricks of trade," but as the debilitated and suffering have a direct interest in the matter, it is only an act of common humanity to put them on their guard.

is completed and running from RICHMOND, VA., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Virginia, 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio river, 200 miles further making in all 427 miles.
In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the WONDERFUL COAL DEPOSITS OF THE KANAWHA REGION IN WEST VIRGINIA. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the IRON ORES OF VIRGINIA AND OHIO, and the WESTERN, SOUTH WESTERN AND EASTERN MARKETS.
When completed it will connect the SUPERIOR HARBOR FACILITIES OF THE CHESAPEAKE BAY with reliable navigation on the Ohio river, and thus with the ENTIRE SYSTEM OF RAILROAD AND WATER TRANSPORTATION OF THE GREAT WEST AND SOUTHWEST.
It will make a SHORT, EASY, CHEAP and FAVORABLE ROUTE from the WEST to the SEA and will command a LARGE SHARE OF THE ENORMOUS FREIGHTS seeking transportation to the coast.
It will thus become one of the most IMPORTANT AND PROFITABLE EAST AND WEST TRUNK LINES OF RAILROAD in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

DR. WHITTIER
CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL PRIVATE DISEASES, Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, Pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE ST. (near Court House) Pittsburgh.

PROPOSALS FOR COAL.—Sealed Proposals will be received at No. 12 WYLIE STREET, until July 6th, 1870, for from six (6,000) to ten (10,000) thousand bushels of good LUMP COAL, to be delivered at the Grant School House. je30:x50

PITTSBURGH CATTLE MARKET.

EAST LIBERTY STOCK YARDS,
THURSDAY, July 7, 1870.

CATTLE.

The receipts and sales of cattle were large this week, nearly double those of last week, and while the market was more active and strong, there is no advance in prices. The offerings consisted mainly of light steers, usually termed "stockers," but there was not much inquiry for this grade of cattle, as there were but very few country buyers in attendance, nor could it be expected in the middle of harvests, when their time and attention is more important at home than anywhere else. Good shipping cattle were in brisk demand and sold readily at full prices, say 7½@8, and prime at 8¼. Stockers may be fairly quoted at 4½@5¼.

The following are the rates of freight from Chicago eastward on live stock:

Fifty dollars per car to Buffalo is the nominal rate by the Central and Southern road, and $55 to New York by the Pittsburgh & Ft. Wayne. The New York Central charges $40 per car for cattle, and $44 for hogs and sheep from Buffalo to New York, while the Erie is still carrying at $100 per car.

The sales of cattle during the week ending at noon to-day, footed up nearly two thousand head against eight hundred head for the week preceding, showing a very large increase.

SHEEP.

The arrivals of sheep were not large, but the demand was only moderate, and while there were buyers for all that was offered, prices are no better than last week, ranging from 4@6 cts. There was but one sale at 6; one at 5,90, and another at 5,80, and the balance sold at from that down to 4 cts. The offerings were mainly of an inferior grade, and, consequently, prime fat sheep sold quicker and at relatively better prices than the commoner grades.

HOGS.

The Hog market has been more active this week, there having been a marked improvement in the demand but there is no change to make in quotations. Philadelphia Hogs may be quoted at 9⅜@9⅝, and Yorkers at 9@9¼.

Live Stock Markets.

CHICAGO, July 7.—Hogs active and 10@15c lower; $8.50@9.10 for common to extra. Cattle moderately active; common and medium grades 15@25c lower; $4.25@8.37½ for common cows to choice smooth steers.

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—Cattle—best qualities are stiff and the prices range at 2½@3½c for inferior to common; 4@5c for medium to good; 5½@7¼c for prime to choice. Hogs steady at 7½ to 9c.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The market is somewhat depressed; the only changes to-day are: Minnehaha 4-4 ticks reduced from 34 to 32½c; Western World 4-4 brown sheetings from 10½ to 10; Jewett's Mills Osnabergs from 20 to 18c.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, July 7, 1870.

The Chicago Republican, in commenting, editorially, on the crop prospect, says: "The crop prospects in the Northwestern States, which, up to a recent period were quite flattering, having suffered serious diminution from the late period of intense heat. We have before pointed out that the section suffering from scant rains, was of quite a limited area in these States, but within two weeks drought has prevailed over a large portion of the territory and inflicted great damage. The wheat crop of Minnesota and parts of Wisconsin, supposed to nearly out of danger, has been badly shrunk in the berry, and the yield promises to be light and inferior in quality. Corn has stood the torrid season better, but the effects of deficient moisture are very visible. Oats are short in the straw, but the grain does not seem to have been much effected. Potatoes, unless in favored localities, will be short, while hay and all classes of fodder for stock will be scarce and bear a high price."

In the commercial department of the same paper, we find the following, from which it will be seen that they do not tally very well together: "The weather is cool, and more rain is threatened. Advices from various sections report copious showers within the past ten days, and fears entertained of a drought have been expelled; the prospects of a large yield of all the cereals never being being better than now."

APPLES—The arrival are only moderate, and with a steady demand, prices are strong and fully sustained. We continue to quote at $4@5½ per bbl.

ASHES—Unchanged; common soda ash, 4; refined, 4¼; Pearls 9@9½; Pots 7¼.

BUTTER—There is a steady shipping demand for good packed, with sales at 16@17. Choice butter may be quoted at 19@20.

BROOMS—Store prices: Fancy, $5.50; No. 1, $4.50; No. 2, $4; No. 3, $3.50; Common, $2.50@3.

BROOM CORN—Sales at 12½@13 cts.

BEANS—Dull; $1.50@1.75 per bush.

CHEESE—Continues very dull owing in part to the hot weather, though prices are unchanged. We continue to quote at 10@14, as to quality.

CHICKENS—In better supply and lower; we now quote at 60@65cts per pair by the coop.

CORNMEAL—95@$1 per bushel.

CEMENT—Sales of Louisville Hydraulic at

CARBON OIL—The demand is light but the market is firmer at 24c for standard brands, in a jobbing way.

DRIED FRUIT—There is little or no stock in this market, and besides there is not much inquiry for it as the season is about over. Apples at 4@5 cts Peaches, 5@6 for quarters and 7@8 for halves.

EGGS—The market is rather better under the influence of continued light arrivals, and prices are higher; we are reported sales of fresh at 21@22.

FLOUR—The demand is light and entirely local while prices are unchanged. We continue to quote good western flours, in store, at $6½; fancy brands, $7@8. Rye flour, $5.

GRAIN—The offerings of wheat are not so large, and the arrivals, too have commenced to fall off, but the supply seems to be equal to the demand, and the mills are reported as being pretty well stocked. We continue to quote red at $1,15@1.20, and white at $1,25@1.30, as to quality. Oats continue dull, and with every prospect of another big crop the feeling is weak and some dealers, who have been holding, now begin to feel like unloading and others regret that they did not sell some time ago, when they refused 2 to 3 cts per bushel more than they can get now. There may yet be an improvement before the new crop is ready for market but it is doubtful. We now quote at 48@49, in first hands, buyers furnishing sacks; 51 on wharf and track, and 52@53 in store. Corn is dull and unchanged; 85@88, for fair to prime yellow. Rye, also, dull and neglected; we heard of an offer to buy 3 cars at 90 free on board, which is equal to about 88 on track; dealers are still paying 85, in first hands for all they can get. Barley—nothing doing.

GROCERIES—Market is dull and devoid of any new features worthy of special notice. Refined Sugars are reported stronger east, and an eighth higher, though unchanged here. New Orleans molasses scarce and firm. Syrups very dull. Coffee, quiet and unchanged.

HAY—Sales from country wagons at $10@12 for new and $14@18 for old.

HEMP—Sales of undressed Kentucky Hemp at $167.

HUSKS—Corn husks, 3@3½ cts.

LIME—Sales of Cleveland at $2,25 per bbl, and eastern at $1.75.

LARD OIL—Extra No. 1 is quoted at $1,23@1.25 and No. 2 at 80.

PROVISIONS—In steady jobbing demand with regular sales at quotations. Shoulders 13½@14 for plain, and 15½@16 for Sugar Cured; 22@23 for Canvassed Sugar Cured Hams; 16½@16¾ for Ribbed Sides; 17 for Short Ribbed, and 17¾ for Clear; Breakfast Bacon, 19. Lard, in tcs, 17 and 18@18½ in kegs and buckets. Mess Pork $31. Dried Beef, 25@26.

PEANUTS—Dull. Tennessee, 8@9 cts.

POTATOES—Regular sales of new crop at $4@4½ per bbl.

SEEDS—No movement in Clover or Timothy Seeds. Flaxseed is still quoted at $2.25, though there is not much inquiry for it. Buckwheat quoted at $1@1,25 per bushel.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, July 7, 1870.

The oil market opened strong but gave some slight evidence of weakness this afternoon, at least it was so reported, though there was less business transacted than yesterday. It is but proper to remark, however, that the trade here, generally, are still impressed with the belief that prices are not likely to go much lower, that there will be nothing like a permanent decline, but that, on the contrary, the indications are favorable for higher figures, and, consequently, there are but few sellers at present quotations. It is contended that oil is lower than almost anything else, and that when the export demand sets in, which is expected soon, the market will naturally grow stronger and prices improve.

Sales 2,000 bbls spot at 12, 2,000 do at 11¾; 400 at 11¾, 500 at 11¾. Seller August at 12; September at 12¼, and October at 12¾. There is nothing said about "lines" or buyer or seller option all year.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily with 4 feet 6 inches in the channel by the Monongahela marks last evening. It rained hard all afternoon, and another rise is not improbable.

The Granite State from Portsmouth is the only arrival we have to report. She will leave again to-day at 12 o'clock for Portsmouth and Cincinnati, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind. Capt. Wash Kerr is still in command, and Mr. T. T. Johnston continues in charge of the office.

The Kate Putnam from St. Louis, is due this morning.

—On her way down Captain Cannon, of the R. E. Lee, ordered two barges of coal at Memphis of Brown & Jones, and was very particular how they should be trimmed to tow. On each barge there was to be 500 boxes of Pittsburgh and 100 boxes of cannel coal. Both boats were to be waiting in mid-stream with a tug. Capt. Leathers was not so minute in his order. He simply wanted 1,000 boxes of coal, but in order to show no partiality Messrs. Brown & Jones had the same kind of coal ready for the Natchez and her barges properly trimmed for towing.

—The St. Paul Press of Friday says there was a trial of speed between the Sucker State and Keokuk, between Lacrosse and Winona, on the way up. The Keokuk left Lacrosse half an hour ahead and was afterwards passed by the Sucker State. Both boats made several landings, and the Keokuk, before reaching Winona, took a "short-cut" through a "chute" while the Sucker State, it is claimed, was working over a bar, and came into Winona fifteen minutes ahead; so the question of speed is unsettled.

—The St. Louis Democrat, of Monday, says: Captain B. R. Pegram arrived from the Ohio yesterday morning. The frame of his new steamer, Clara Bain, is up, and is being planked. Long & Co., have purchased for this new steamer, cylinders, 10 feet stroke, 34 inches in diameter. They were made originally for the R. E. Lee, but instead of taking them, Captain Cannon, ordered those 40 inches diameter, 10 feet stroke, which are causing the Robert Lee to produce the present excitement.

—Monday, contracts were closed by Capt. N. J. Jabin, of Little Rock, Ark., with parties in New Albany to build a ferryboat for the Arkansas River at Little Rock. The hull is to be 100 feet in length 33 feet breadth of beam, and 44 feet depth of hold. The machinery will consist of 2 cylinders, each 10 inches in diameter, 4 feet stroke, and two boilers 16 feet long and 36 inches in diameter.

—The New Albany Ledger is authority for a story that a party of Cincinnatians placed $30,000 in the hands of a man and sent him to Louisville to bet it on the Natchez, but the dispatches were not favorable, and he went back to Porkopolis with his pile, after admitting the object of his mission to a steamboat agent.

—The first steamboat used in Great Britain was the Comet, a small vessel of forty feet keel and ten and a half feet beam, with an engine of three horse power, which carried passengers on the river Clyde, Scotland, in 1814.

—Carrie V. Kountz was to be launched on June 25. A pilot went down and would bring her to Memphis in as good condition as the day when she was completed.

—The canal at Louisville will be closed on the 25th and will remain closed so long as circumstances require it.

—The tow boats Simpson Horner and Hornet arrived at New Orleans on Tuesday.

WINE OF LIFE.—The great Blood Purifier and Delicious Drink, WARNER'S VINUM VITÆ, OR WINE OF LIFE, is free from any poisonous drugs or impurities, being prepared for those who require a stimulant. It is a splendid appetizer and tonic, and the finest thing in the world for purifying the blood. It is the most pleasant and delicious article ever offered to the public, far superior to brandy, whisky, wine bitters, or any other article. It is more healthy and cheaper. Both male and female, young or old, can take the Wine of Life. It is in fact, a life preserver. Those who wish to enjoy good health and a free flow of lively spirits, will do well to take the Wine of Life. It is different from anything ever before in use. It is sold by druggists; also at all respectable saloons. Price $1.00, in quart bottles. my9:MWFT

Four hundred and thirty prescriptions were issued to the poor from the Homeopathic Dispensary, Second avenue, during last month.

The residence of Mr. John Andrews, Butcher's Run, Allegheny, was destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon. Loss about $400; not insured.

An alarm of fire was struck from box 56, corner North Canal and Sycamore streets, Allegheny, Wednesday evening about 11 o'clock. It was caused by a slight fire in a dwelling near the Troy Hill car stables. Damage slight.

Morganstern & Co., 78 and 80 Market St., are determined not to carry over any summer goods. We have this day reduced our stock to wonderfully low prices. Ladies, give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. 78 and 80 Market street.

Wednesday afternoon Dr. McCandless, assisted by other members of the Homeopathic Hospital staff, trepanned the skull of Jacob Billinger, who had been injured in a coal pit at Freeport by the falling of a piece of slate upon him. He is doing well.

Body Recovered.—Yesterday morning the body of a young man named Emerich was found in the Ohio river near the Ferry Landing. He had been drowned while bathing the evening previous. He was about 21 years of age and resided in the Fifth ward.

James Burke residing in Barnett alley, Second Ward, Allegheny, while walking along Grant avenue Wednesday evening accidentally slipped and fell, severely injuring himself. He had to be carried home by a police officer where his injuries were attended to by Dr. S. B. King.

Obituary.—Mr. Jacob Fedder, an estimable and highly respected citizen of the Second ward, died last night at his residence, No. 183 Second avenue, after a lingering illness. The announcement will cause much sorrow to a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock.

Alleged Perjury.—Yesterday Thos. McDermott made information before Alderman McMasters against Ellen Carroll for perjury. The defendant it is charged in a case before the magistrate, a few weeks ago, made oath that she was worth two thousand dollars in real estate, which was not the case. She was committed to jail for a hearing.

Delirium.—Yesterday afternoon John Ridgeway, a resident of the Third ward, Allegheny, was arrested and locked up for whipping his wife. Subsequently he was attacked with delirium tremens, and Dr. Thorn was called in to attend him. He recovered somewhat under medical treatment, but was still suffering last night and could not be released.

We made an error yesterday in stating the charge upon which it is said Dr. Clark will be again brought up before his Presbytery. It seems that the allegation is that he misrepresented the reason for his breaking off the engagement with Miss Hawkes—the real cause being an engagement of a similar character with another lady, who resides in an eastern city.

Butler County.—The quiet, peaceful town of Coylesville, Butler county, was thrown into a state of intense excitement on Independence Day by a free use of fighting whisky among the Irish laborers on the railroad, which resulted in a full chapter of black eyes, broken heads, and the stabbing of two men, both of whom were seriously injured, and one, it is feared, may "shuffle off this mortal coil" from the effects of wounds received.

Brownsville Thieves—Bold Attempt at Robbery.—Burglars made a bold attempt to rob the Adams Express office in Brownsville last Monday morning. The noise in the streets assisted them in their operations. They succeeded in blowing open the outer door of the safe, which at the time contained about $10,000. At this point, however, they were interrupted, some persons in the vicinity being attracted to the place by the explosion. They escaped, but secured nothing.

Harper & Brothers, New York, announce elsewhere a fine list of new publications, among which are some of the most valuable books of the season. Reade's new work, "Put Yourself in His Place," is having a large sale. They have just issued the thirty-eighth thousand edition, and still the demand increases. These well known publishers are constantly issuing new works, notwithstanding these stringent times. Robertson's Sermons, their latest publication, is a splendid book, and sold at a low price.

Inquests.—Alderman Butler concluded the inquest upon the remains of the infant brought from Mansfield, and the circumstances of whose death we published Monday morning. The result established the complete innocence of the party suspected of foul play, and developed the fact that the child had died a natural death.

A jury was empannelled by Coroner Clawson to investigate the facts connected with the death of Balser Wilke, run over by a locomotive at Fleming Station. A verdict in accordance with the circumstances already published was rendered.

An inquest was held on the body of James Stuchy, the boy drowned in the Allegheny river last Sunday afternoon. Accidental drowning was the verdict.

Youthful Transgressors.

Yesterday morning before daylight the stable of the Rolshouse Hotel, Ohio and Beaver streets, Allegheny, was broken open and a couple of horses taken out. A short time afterwards an officer arrested a colored boy, who was riding up Federal street upon a horse and could give no satisfactory account of himself. At the Mayor's morning hearing the fact of the robbery became known, when the young culprit confessed that he had, in company with three companions, taken the horses for a little ride, not intending to steal them. His father was employed at the hotel, and he thought the action was not wrong. After hearing his statement the owner of the horses refused to prosecute and the boy was discharged. The other horse was subsequently recovered.

Continued Public Sale.

Owing to the heavy rains preventing persons from attending the sale of those desirable pieces of ground at City View, only part of them were sold, and the balance will be offered on Friday, July 9th, at 2 o'clock P. M. Any persons desiring a piece of ground from one to five acres, covered with bearing fruit trees and grapes, and commanding a beautiful view of city and country, within fifteen minutes drive of the Allegheny Diamond, via Federal street, North avenue and lower Perrysville plank road, should not fail to attend, as sites so convenient on such easy terms are exceedingly rare.

Terms, one-fifth cash and balance in five equal annual payments, with interest. Conveyances will be provided to take persons to and from the sale, starting at Troy Hill Passenger cars, at corner of East and Ohio streets, from 1½ to 2½ o'clock.

Teachers Elected.

At a meeting of the Lawrence School Board (Fifteenth ward) held on Monday evening, July 6th, the following named teachers were elected: Principal, Mr. Samuel F. Patterson; Grammer Department, Miss Louise C. Ahlbone, and for the other departments Misses R. Ewing, Maggie Garrett, Maggie Cromlish and Sophie Hoyer, leaving one vacancy which the board proposes to fill at a special meeting to be held for that purpose on next Wednesday evening, July 13th, at which time all applications received will be considered. Applicants can address, enclosing certificates, Thos. D. Keller, Secretary, No. 78 Fourth avenue, or any member of the board. The schools of this district exhibited marked improvement at the examination of last week, and great credit was reflected alike upon teachers and pupils. The present school building being inadequate to the wants of the district, the board has purchased a large lot on the corner of Thirty-seventh and Charlotte streets, on which they propose to erect in a short time a fine and commodious building.

P. Shinn, and Wm. McCreery, of Pittsburgh; A. L. Crawford, New Castle, Pa.; C. B. Wick, Cincinnati, O.; J. L. Crawford, Lowellville, O.; A. C. Fisk, Henry Hubbard, J. D. Hurlburt, and H. L. The line is the extension of the Lawrence railroad from Youngstown, Ohio, to the spacious harbor of Ashtabula, and is intended for the transaction of a heavy business in iron, ore, coal, &c., and is at once the shortest and best line to the lakes. The entire length from Pittsburgh to the lake is one hundred and twenty-five miles.

AVERY COLLEGE.

Commencement Exercises—Distinguished Visitors Present—Essays and Orations—Address By S. A. Neale, Esq.—Evening Exercises at Lafayette Hall—Addresses by Hon. H. R. Revels of Mississippi and Hon. J. J. Wright of South Carolina, &c.

The commencement exercises at Avery college, Allegheny, took place yesterday in the college hall, Avery street, Allegheny, and were attended by a large number of our colored citizens as well as many prominent white citizens of the two cities, but the attendance would doubtless have been much larger had it not been for the heavy rain which commenced falling about one o'clock the hour appointed for beginning the exercises. There were a number of distinguished colored gentlemen present, among whom were Bishops Brown and Jones of the A. M. E. church, Rev. Dr. Thompson of the First colored Presbyterian church Cincinnati, Hon. H. R. Revels, United States Senator from Mississippi, Hon. J. J. Wright of the Supreme Bench of South Carolina, Rev. John Peck and other leading colored men of this city and Allegheny.

THE EXERCISES.

At half past one o'clock the graduating class, preceeded by the distinguished gentleman named above and Rev. H. H. Garnet, President of the College, entered the Hall, and the exercises were opened with prayer by Bishop J. M. Brown.

Miss Amanda M. Fairfax read an essay, subject—"Education the Need of the Age." The production was well written and read in a very creditable manner.

Next came an essay by Miss Sarah E. Douglass, subject—"God's Goodness to Man," which was also a very creditable production.

Miss Charlotte Wilson followed with a well written essay, subject—"The Better Way," which was remarkably well read.

The audience were entertained with vocal music by the class, one of their number presiding at the organ. The singing was very fine, and was highly appreciated by the audience.

Essays were then read as follows, and as the performances were all of such a highly creditable character it would be unfair to praise any one of them more than another:

"The New Era."........ Sarah Ellen Jackson.
"Star of Hope."........................Susan Wilson.
"Unity the Bond of Society."....Mary C. Giles.
Music—"Red, White, and Blue." By the class.
"Progress."........................Eliza A. Coursey.

Moses H. Hopkins, of Winchester, Va., was then introduced, and delivered an original oration, subject, "Adversity," in the preparation and delivery of which the speaker evinced considerable genius and cultivation.

Miss Mary E. Young then read, in very excellent style, a well written essay, subject, "Our Representative Men."

L. K. Atwood delivered an original oration on "The Bible in our Public Schools," which was a very fair production and was tolerably well delivered.

The class sung another song in an excellent manner.

The address of Prof. B. K. Sampson, as announced on the programme, was omitted in consequence of the extreme illness of that gentleman' Rev. H. H. Garnet apologizing to the audience for him.

PROF. NEALE'S ADDRESS.

Prof. S. A. Neale was introduced and addressed the class.

Mr. President and Gentlemen:—In the chivalric age, when Peter the Hermit instituted the order of Knighthood whose sacred object was to rescue the Holy Sepulchre in which the Savior of the world once lay entombed, from the hands of the infidel Turks, the only guerdon sought by those knights of old was the expiation of their crimes against humanity and God by doing deeds of valor in the noble work of conquest over the enemies of Christendom. So we, the men and women of the last half of this nineteenth century, have a battle to fight as formidable as ever engaged the chivalrous enterprise of the crusaders of the Twelfth century. And we have sins to be pardoned as deep in turpitude as ever blighted the characters of those heroic men.

In the Eastern world upon the tomb whose "marble cerements" once enclosed the Divine body, the mosques and minarets of Jerusalem, still cast the shadows of darkness, telling of the horrors of Paganism. And here in the Western world we find the image of the Almighty possessing the forms of men and women stultified and almost dehumanized by a crime little less than that which crucified the Lamb of Calvary. The crime is now buried, but its fruits remain. The XVth amendment is the written epitaph upon the tomb of slavery. We stand to-day invested with all the rights and privileges of freemen, but, Oh, how weak! disorganized and powerless. "All things strive to ascend, ascend in the striving;" only man, in the selfishness of his nature, seeks a mock Heaven in the fleeting elements beneath him. We are of the earth—earthly; hence we look downward. Hence we are distracted and torn by petty dissensions, and we rob ourselves of power by fostering an antagonism unworthy of the dignity of men.

It must not, cannot be, that the refinement of taste—that the laudable ambition to excel, which marks the character of other nations, shall find no permanent foothold in our natures. We are enthusiastic; we are mercurial. "A hope laughs in our face to-day; a grief is here to-morrow." And the hope transports us to the third heaven, while the grief sinks us to the lowest depths of despair; hence we are deficient in decided, firm, hopeful, persistent effort. There is a mystery about this repugnant element that crushes our best efforts, which ought to be solved. I may not to-day, like a second Thesus, unwind the intricacies of this social labyrinth, but the comprehensive theme to which, for a very brief while, I earnestly ask your attention, will probably show you what has disintegrated and broken this race of ours and what will build it up into an harmonious concrete mass.

The theme selected is "The Aggressive Spirit of Education." My friends, I am not here to speak on abstract subjects: nor to soar upon the wings of eloquence in glorifying the achievements of men of former times. I love the people; hence my mission is to "show the manners, living as the rise; to give the age and body of the times their former pressure." It will be a sad commentary upon the inefficiency of human eloquence, uttering the language of truth and of duty, if the vast audience assembled within these classic walls shall return to their homes unedified by the efforts of orators and essayists, and unresolved to banish from their hearts that which retards their own growth into full and perfect manhood.

Education is aggressive. Like the iconoclasts of old, it tears down the false images of superstition and idolatry which darken our minds, and places in their stead, truth, virtue and religion. It is aggressive in another sense. It sometimes inculcates through false teachers and the enemies of humanity sentiments destructive to the virtues just named. And O! how powerful is its influence when exerted on the side of wrong. Like the winds of the hurricane, it sweeps down everything which obstructs its progress. It enters into our social circles; into our churches; into our communities; and, O God! it invades the sacred precincts of hearthstones, and blights and desecrates the most holy influences which for years we have thrown around those whom we regard as dearer than life. Like the deadly upas tree, it poisons all persons who come within the reach of its influence. It is this sort of aggressive education which to-day exhibits us to the world a shattered and broken people. It is as potent a weapon in the hands of our enemies to-day as it was two and half centuries ago among our ancestors who were stolen from Africa and brought to this country. All through those years of human bondage they were educated into a distrust and jealous of each other. The slaveholders, well knowing that the way to perpetuate slavery was to fan the flames of envy, malice and suspicion among the enslaved. And now recourse is had to the same instrumentality to keep the spirit of clannishness among us, as regnant as of yore. Our political enemies are again engendering social strifes and animosities in our midst, with the sole object of keeping us a despised and incapable people—the pitiful subjects of sometimes the execration and sometimes the pity of good men. Even in our social operations and efforts for the advancement of the technical education of our youth we find men who should be each to each united as with hooks of steel, ready to scatter the baleful spirit of opposition among us. These are sad truths, friends—so sad that they cause a sinking of the heart, and with bowed heads we are ready to cry out, "How long, O Lord? How long?" O, I implore you! "Let the dead past bury its dead. Let us act in the living present. Heart within and God o'er head."

It is related of the warriors of the feudal ages that in the bloody battles which then so frequently occurred they would throw their lances far over into the center of the conflict, and then with battle axe and shield they would cleave their way, cutting down every one that impeded them, until they reached the place where their lances had been thrown. So, students of Avery College, and scholars of the schools of our cities, I beg you to throw your longing eyes far up the hill which leads to the temple of knowledge, and then with book, pen and brains, dash away every opposing barrier. Be aggressive in the true sense. Opposing all forms of superstition and building up a true humanity and permanent beauty upon the ruins of broken wrongs. And unto you, O fathers and mothers of these cities,—men and women along the pathway of life, I appeal. By the holy duties you owe to God—by the sacred rights of humanity—by the beauteous tribute of parental love in which these students will embalm your memories. Guide them and guard them; guide them in the pleasant ways of science and virtue, and guard them from the deleterious influences of evil company. The blessings of God will be yours. The blessings of God and a disenthralled world will be theirs forever.

CONFERRING DEGREES.

At the conclusion of Prof. Neale's address the audience, at the invitation of President Garnet, adjourned to the Library Hall where degrees were conferred as follows, by President Garnet.

Upon Hon. J. J. Bright, Judge of the Supreme Court of South Carolina, the degree of L.L. D. was conferred.

The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon the following gentlemen: Hon. H. R. Revels U. S. Senator from Memphis; Singleton L. Jones, of A. M. E. Zion church, Newark, New Jersey.

Rev. John M. Brown, Bishop of A. M. E. Church, Washington, D. C.

Rev. C. H. Thompson, Pastor of First A. Presbyterian church of Cincinnati.

Rev. Henry Baiden.

The degree of Master of Arts was then conferred on the following named gentlemen:

Rev. Benj. T. Tanner, Rev. T. Morris Chester, Prof. S. A. Neale.

The audience was then dismissed.

EVENING EXERCISES.

At half-past eight o'clock last evening a large audience assembled at Lafayette Hall to hear the addresses of Senator Revels and Judge Wright, the distinguished colored citizens from Mississippi and South Carolina, respectively, and the valedictory remarks of Rev. Henry Highland Garnet, President of the College, before the Philomathean and Avery Lyceum Literary Societies of Avery College.

The exercises of the evening were opened with prayer by Bishop S. L. Jones, of Newark, N. J.

ADDRESS OF SENATOR REVELS.

Mr. Garnet introduced to the audience with a few appropriate remarks, Hon. H. R. Revels, U. S. Senator from Mississippi, and successor of Jefferson Davis.

Mr. Revels said, that if he had not, at the request of President Garnet, forwarded some days since the subject of his address, which had been published, his remarks would have been extemporaneous and impromptu. He then spoke as follows:

THE AIM OF THE COLLEGIATE COURSE.

Who has not felt a pleasure he cannot describe, who after long absence from scenes he has loved, it is granted him once more to return. Such a prospect though distant supports the mariner when in the tempestuous night he keeps his watch on deck, or the traveler as he toils to ascend the mountains which divide him from his home. Thus, young gentlemen, no doubt you hasten from and now view those dwellings where you hope soon to meet the friends you love. May God grant you the utmost of your expectations. But after years of toil and care have passed, and when death has demanded many of those stars of love, which shed over you there their heavenly light, you will turn with equal if not with greater pleasure to the peaceful spot of your collegiate education which memory will invest with all its early attractions and crowd with the companions of your youth.

I rejoice to stand among you this day and hail you as younger brethren and tell you that in after life, wherever you may meet the hands that connect you to your Alma Mater, you will find stronger than you feel them now. And I congratulate the Honorable President of Avery College upon the rising prospects of this institution of learning and pray that her sons may be as numerous and distinguished as the abilities and faithfulness of the present incumbent in her highest office, and his worthy assistants, warrant us to expect. The object of her erection was the glory of God and the best interests of man and, the good spirit which watches over such an intention will yet vouchsafe His blessing and carry it on to its aim.

The object of a collegiate course is to furnish man against the evils and for the duties of this present life, and as his own wild propensities are the greatest enemies to his success his first effort must be in their subjection, all his learning is useless unless he has gained this victory and this obtained is an earnest of all others against evil and a guarantee of success in all undertakings that are good. He may be taught science, but there is a destroyer within him if he have an uncontrollable spirit, which will defeat all his ends; be may be born to every prospect that is fair and good but he will blast them ere he die; and in our country where the claims upon their education are so many for the learned professions, the benevolent operations, at home and abroad, the further instruction of the young, together with the scientific and medicinal works now prosecuting, and the proportion of those qualified to meet them so few; when we compare them with the mass of our own population and the hundreds and thousands imported yearly from foreign countries; the young consequently are called early to these arduous duties before they have had time to form fixed habits, or pass that period when they are peculiarly exposed to the snares of youth; we therefore need as much probably, as anything else, a strong controlling power before we leave the academic retreat.

What a sad waste of moral and physical energy has the world sustained from this one difficulty; many a man might be an Alexander if he could but bend and govern himself, drive his powers to one point and beat down his temptations, and many an Alexander, with power to conquer a world, is overcome by himself at last; he lies down for a few hours without this harness and rises afterward like the shorn Sampson "eyles in Gaza, at the mill with slaves." There is a man of talent; he has graduated perhaps at one of our own institutions and in the pursuit of his profession has discovered a mind of great activeness as well as of deep research; why does he not rise to eminence? One thing is wanting, and but one, he has a roving disposition, no sooner is he settled than he imagines he can do better in another occupation, and he changes from another place and removes to Missouri or Texas, or some other ideal Paradise, until he loses the profits he has already obtained and becomes unfit for any employment; the workings of discontent and anxiety he has felt in common with us all, the tendency to such a motion as drives headlong and discharges all his moral, physical and domestic machinery, and this tendency he has never learned to control. The object of our education, the change of Heavens communication have as one main end, to bring us under an enlightened self control.

Sometimes the deficiency is felt in another department. There is an inability to restrain the appetite, and men run after all they crave; pleasure is the leading star; he soon becomes a drunkard, until slothfulness like the creeping darkness of midnight steals over him and presses him down, and locks him up in an eternal sleep, a burden to himself and mankind: an incubus is upon him he can no more shake off than the fabled giants the burning Aetna.

And woe to the charmed bird, upon whom love fastens so strongly her witching spell, under its fascinations the calls of duty, of honor, and of patriotism are often unheard. How many battles have been lost by commanders since the days of Marc Anthony, who turned his vessel from the fight and gave the world for beauty. How often has the detention in the magic bower of those beloved, where the last words of parting must be said and the last farewell given, proved the hinging point of a young man's destiny; the time prolonged and delayed until the opportunity of some valuable advance in life is lost and lost forever; and when the silken cords are thrown around the student, the classic language of Horace or of Cicero is neglected for that more eloquent from living lips, and he who but for this might have shone in the honors of a valedictory, passes through his course scarcely obtaining his degree. How few are there like the noble Marquis of France, who almost from the music of his bridal hour, obeyed the trumpet call of liberty in our own country; or fewer still so intent upon science that like Newton, in the days of his courtship, still following the many threads of some yet unproven theory, took the finger of his mistress to dust the ashes from his pipe; such dullness in the power of female loveliness, or such mental abstraction, I by no means recommend.

There are a few principles with reference to this point which should be continually before the mind through the whole of our life, and if faithfully pursued will lead to success and honor, and, what is of more consequence, immortal life and joy beyond the grave. If we wish to be anything or do anything in the world worth recording upon our tomb stones, there must be a complete submission of the passions and the appetite, and all mere mental desire, to the judgment; reason must rule; the soul must govern the body, the spirit the flesh, and one of the first lessons man has to learn, and which is also an essential element in the aim of a collegiate course, is to put reason upon the throne of his mental empire.

Another principle which must enter into the aim of the college course is the rigid government of the reason by divine truth; self control is but begun in the subjection of the imagination and the grosser passions to the reason as their guide, the reason itself must be under as complete control to divine truth. Adopting these two principles, we will find that this control, which is the one grand object of all education, must be obtained upon every ground of consideration. It is necessary, young gentlemen, for your own advantage, as members of this institution, and your welfare in life. We have in this land no descending titles, no entailed estates; every man must rise by his own merits. If you wish to build a reputation, you must lay the foundation stone and rear the whole superstructure with your own hands; few fortuitous circumstances out of yourself will occur to carry it on. It must be by labor like that which follows the primeval curse. If you wish to leave a memorial to posterity, you, with your own hands, must chisel it out upon the face of a steep and dangerous rock, and how can the work be done without a rigid self-control.

At the conclusion of Senator Revel's address, the audience were furnished with an excellent piece of vocal music by the graduating class. Mrs. Barboza, teacher of music at Avery College, precided at the organ.

ADDRESS OF HON. J. J. WRIGHT.

President Garnet introduced Hon. J. J. Wright, Judge of the Supreme Court of South Carolina, who spoke as follows:

Mr. President and Ladies and Gentlemen, had I not, like the Senator who preceeded me communicated the subject upon which I would address you, I should have preferred to address you extemporaneously and I may find an opportunity to do so for a short time.

The subject upon which my remarks shall be based this evening is:—

THE AMERICAN APPROACH TO MUNICIPAL LAW.

From the earliest period all writers of any eminence upon the subject of law have agreed that there are two grand and fundamental principles, upon which all law depends, to wit: the law of nature and of revelation, and in consequence of this great and important truth being cherished in the minds of those early writers upon legal jurisprudence, we have municipal law defined as being the "rule of civil conduct prescribed by the Supreme Power in a state, commanding what is right, and prohibiting what is wrong."

This definition, though originating in England, has been accepted by the American people, and should have been held a sacred chart to guide our legislative bodies in the formation of their laws for the government of the people.

It is perceived by this definition that our early law-givers had in view the right, and earnestly desired that all laws should be formed in accordance therewith.

The laws of nature bear equally upon all. The rain descends alike upon the just and the unjust. Heat and cold, light and darkness, are meted out to all without respect to persons; therefore, according to the Divine arrangement, all persons may enjoy the benefits to be derived from those laws, and no human agency has a right to interfere and place any obstacle in the way.

When the law-making powers mould, shape and fashion their enactments after the laws of nature and revelation, then it is that these enactments become laws, otherwise they are feeble, nugatory, illegal, and by the adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America, have been declared void.

The Constitution of the United States has been cleansed. If the source be filthy nothing that is drawn therefrom can be clean, and if the source be not cleansed many who imbibe from that which is drawn from it must die from its effect. The Constitution of which we speak has been the great source of American civil conduct, but since the adoption of the aforesaid Fifteenth amendment thereto it has become municipal law in letter and in spirit, and is therefore to-day the great source of American laws.

If from the time of the adoption of that instrument, it had been administered in the spirit which actuated the Fathers of our country at the time when they appealed unto the Supreme Judge of all as counsel, and gave to this nation the immortal declaration of 1776, streams of blood which have been shed upon numerous fields of battle in the late American war, would have been coursing in the veins of thousands, and the bone and sinew of the people would not have been so severely taxed to pay the millions of money which have been assessed upon them to defray the debt which accrued in teaching the American people the true doctrine of municipal law.

But that instrument was not administered in such a spirit; but in the letter it was pressed in tyranny, the result of which was codes of human encroachments (called laws) which discriminated between American citizens and to one portion of the people generally, closed up the doors of our common schools, academies, seminaries and colleges, fettered their intellects, hampered their persons, and thereby deprived them of those rights, priviliges and immunities, which are so requisite and necessary to the happiness of every citizen, to the peace, good order, and general welfare of any community, State, or nation of people.

Those so called laws were enforced to the letter by the highest courts in the nation. Those enforcing them were simply servants of the people, and carried out the designs of the cruel majority. The laws of nature, of revelation, and the divine laws, which, taken severally, compose municipal law, and are founded in justice, were disregarded, the doctrine that we ought to obey the Supreme Judge of all, rather than feeble man, was crushed to earth; also that every person under the law was entitled to personal liberty, personal security, and the right to have and enjoy property. This was denied a great portion of the American people, and in consequence of this denial, a case was carried to the highest Court of this nation, of which R. B. Taney was the Chief Justice, and his opinion rendered in that case was contrary to the municipal law. On a writ of wilful error the case was carried up and adjudicated before that Tribunal which metes out justice to all, and the decision of the court below was reversed, a new trial granted, which trial resulted in liberty for all, and slavery for none of the American citizens.

Hence the American approach to municipal law.

All legislative enactments founded in justice are law, and those not so founded are not law. In the language of Justinian, "Justitia est constans et perpetua voluntas jus suum cuique tribuendi."

The great object of the supreme power in a State should be to legislate for the general good of all its citizens, to see that none are deprived of any rights that others enjoy, to provide for the educational, mechanical, and every other interest which is calculated to develope the intellectual, moral and religious powers of the whole people. A great portion of the American people have been struggling against the currents of justice for many years, appearing to entertain the belief that they would not be compelled to turn back, but God is just, and man being the noblest work of his hands, endowed with an intellect susceptible of comprehending the magnitude, power and justice of His works, must eventually bow in submission to His laws.

The progress made by the American people toward municipal law in the last ten years has not a parallel in the history of nations. It is but a brief period since the Legislatures of nearly every State and Territory in North America were passing enactments discriminating between two or more classes of persons within their territorial limits, but by the action of the supreme legislative power of the nation, with the aid of a sufficient number of the States, they have placed it beyond the power of Congress or any other legislative body to pass enactments denying to any class of persons any rights or privileges on account of appearance. No longer is one class to be deprived of the requisite polish, by being prevented by legislation from drinking at the fountains of knowledge, which are open in the land, but all are to stand equal before the law, untrammelled by legislative action, with a fair chance in the race of life. This is right. It comports with municipal law. It is the all important epoch in American jurisprudence. Once our national flag was a mockery, a delusion and a sham, but to-day as it is moved by the air of Heaven, exhibiting its stars and stripes, we know that wherever it floats within the jurisdiction of our Government, all classes of persons are as free as the breeze that moves it.

Therefore, the right prevails in the United States of America, and it is an honor to be a citizen of these states. The laws to govern all objects of creation were established at creation. These are immutable, and when obeyed all things work together for the good and welfare of those obeying them, but in fearful recompense against such who essay to act independently of and against them. If individuals disregard and violate the law, they will and should be punished. Nations are like individuals. For a time a nation may oppress a portion of its people, but that time has always an end.

Falsehoods may for a time override, weigh down and embarrass truth, but there is always another time when truth, with all its grand, noble, sublime and gigantic proportions, will appear upon the mountain top, possessing a charm and a power that will touch the soul and cause the world's eye to be turned upon and recognize it.

All persons should be taught the principles of municipal law and urged to carry out the doctrines of the same. When such a course is pursued, it is indicative of peace, union and prosperity. Crime will be at its ebb and will not be permitted to garb itself in the mantle of justice and christianity, and flow over and conceal the dark places of national iniquity.

And as a lover of our country and one who takes an interest in the well-being of mankind, in this day of changes, when governments are being taken down and society is newly moulding itself, when a leaven of agitation is fermenting the whole mass of the colored population on our shores, this self-control, this governed spirit, it becomes our institution of learning especially to cultivate and infuse into our young men. Here is the spot for self-discipline, and from these scholastic walls must issue those who will be at the head of the mischief or the renovation, for no man who is educated can stand neutral in any great change that is taking place.

I rejoice that this College, around which we gather in affection, sits not silent and solitary as a lone mother, deserted of her sons, she must now bear an important part in the destiny of our race in America. I can only, with my whole heart and with an hundred times the ardor it possesses, if it were possible, unite in entreating the blessing of Heaven upon this institution, that she may be an ornament to our country, a blessing to our civilization and to the glory of God—that she may send forth to the world those who shall do honor to their teachers and her own name, and may by their usefulness be the brightest gems in her crown of praise.

At the conclusion of the address President Garnet said:

In justice to the young ladies who have favored us with music I must say that they have been greatly disappointed, they were promised a piano and an organ but they have no piano, and the organ is so much out of order as to render it useless. They will therefore have to sing without the instrument. The class then sang a beautiful song.

AN ALUMNI'S REMARKS.

Rev. Henry Highland Garnet then introduced Rev. T. Morris Chester, A. M., a graduate of Avery College, who addressed the audience. He came to Avery College over twenty years since with all the pride and vanity that ignorance had engendered, he remained two years. During that short period of time he made rapid progress and learned what many persons failed to learn in a lifetime. He learned that he did not know anything. Those who were in attendance at the College at that time may have gone forth in the world and are living monuments to the benefactors of the race. The speaker continued at considerable length, and his remarks were listened to with marked attention.

VALEDICTORY REMARKS.

Mr. Garnet then briefly addressed the audience. He said it was not his intention to make a speech. However much he might be disposed to extend his remarks, he would not extend them to any length, as by so doing he might tire the patience of the audience. He then referred briefly to his connection with the College, of which he had been in charge for two years and four months, and this evening he resigned his charge. During his connection with the College, he discovered what Avery college needs, and that is, cooperation of the people for whose benefit it was built. That cooperation can be secured by laying aside that bane of all society, narrow minded sectarianism. The work has been commenced, and ere long he trusted that spirit of sectarianism would die and be buried beyond the hope of resurrection. During his connection with the Institution he had received the cooperation of the majority of the Board of Trustees. He was satisfied that the College would realize all that its founder had hoped for. The speaker then, in a feeling manner, bid farewell to the Board of Trustees, his friends and his school.

ANOTHER DEGREE.

At the close of Mr. Garnet's remarks, Prof. Neale arose and said that the Board of Trustees had prepared one testimonial of the appreciation of Mr. Garnet's services, and he trusted that others would soon follow it. The board had elected Rev. John Peck to present it.

Mr. Peck then arose, and in a few brief remarks conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity upon Rev. Mr. Garnet.

THE BANQUET.

Prof. Neale made a brief address, in which he paid a high compliment to Rev. Henry Highland Garnet, D. D., after which he announced that a banquet had been prepared in the supper room, to which he invited the audience.

The college class then sang the farewell chorus, after which the audience adjourned.

In the supper room a sumptuous repast was prepared of which a large number of persons partook, and the remainder of the evening was spent pleasantly in promenading and social conversation.

Obituary.

Died, Monday, June 27th, 1870, MARY E. RALSTON.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord, for they rest from their labors." How sweet is the fragrance exhaling from the youthful deathbed where the short life has been consecrated to the service of the Most High, not to the subjective services of the sanctuary merely, but where it has been filled to overflowing with the sanctities, the sweet odors arising from the unflagging exercise of the tenderest acts of humanity. Such was the beautiful life of Mary E. Ralston. Duties the most irksome were religiously fulfilled. Toil, fatigue, were alike endured with a cheerfulness of spirit well nigh unapproachable. A pains-taking systemization characterized all her labors, those labors for so lengthened a period so faithfully performed, those labors so arduous, so repulsive even in some of their bearings, to the delicate and refined, the seeking out and relieving in their sickness and sorrow the worthy poor, and in their squalor and wretchedness, and training to worthier habits, the unworthy. But how futile are words to convey an idea of the tact, discrimination and judgment evinced by her in that capacity. Eternity alone can reveal the ultimate good accomplished by her.

It was meet that the sickness unto death of a womanhood, where beauty, and grace, and intellectual gifts had withstood the blandishments of sensuous ease; and chosen to traverse the thorn-clad roads of Christian charity—should be the scene of unalloyed tranquility and peace; where no philosophic sophisms obscured the unclouded eye of faith, as it clearly discerned the Savior's hands stretched forth to receive her; the glorious refulgence of the great white throne; the glittering rays of the gates of jasper and of pearl; with the voices of the one hundred and forty-four thousand, who had washed their robes and made them white in the blood of Lamb.

Transcendent, however, as were her realizations of her future abode, her thoughts lingered, lovingly lingered, upon the duties of this. To a dear friend, the indefatigable mover, the unwearied accomplisher of untold works of Christian benevolence, she said, there is so much to be done, and I am unable to evince my gratitude to my Heavenly Father by caring for any of his little ones. My dear Miss Ralston, her friend replied, by the sweet influences of your loving deportment; by the resignation and patience with which you endure your intense sufferings, you are doing more to glorify Him than we can possibly do.

May the fervor of her spirit; the untiring energy of her perseverance; the odor of her Christian graces rest upon her much-loved associates, bearing fruit an hundred fold.

Personals.

E. N. HURD, Esq., in charge of the local business of the General Passenger and Ticket Agents Office, of the Pittsburgh Fort Wayne and Chicago and Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railways, in this city, since Mr. Kimball accepted the superintendency of the Erie and Pittsburgh Railroad, at Erie, Pa., has long been connected with this department. His experience and qualifications make him admirably adapted to the responsible position he has been placed in charge of by Mr. F. R. Myers, whose headquarters are now at Chicago. Persons having business with Mr. Hurd, will find him courteous and obliging, important elements in a public officer.

ROBERT JAMISON, Esq., of the firm of McCandless, Jamison, & Co., and Houck, Jamison & Co., of this city, John Arbuckle, Esq., of the house of Arbuckle & Co., of this city, and his wife, and Miss Margaret A. Arbuckle, left yesterday evening for Europe. They sail on Saturday on the steamship Europe. We wish them bon voyage and a safe return next September.

MR. EDWARD HOUSE, member of the Select Council, from the Second ward, who but recently returned from his wedding tour, was yesterday afternoon quietly and unostentatiously made the recipient of a solid silver service, from a number of his friends, who called in a body in the evening at his residence on Second avenue to present their congratulations to the recipient and his accomplished lady.

Something for the Ladies.—Morganstern & Co. have reduced their entire stock of summer goods. Skirts for $1, worth $4. Parasols are actually being sold at one-half the former prices. Give us a call and see for yourselves. 78 and 80 Market street.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION.

A Pleasant Assemblage Last Night—Progress of the Cause in Pittsburgh—Future Plans—More Speeches—Some Spice—And Instruction Throughout.

Last evening witnessed another meeting of the Woman's Suffrage Association—one of the most pleasant and entertaining of the public gatherings which has attracted attention in the city for some time. The hall over the Third National Bank, Wood street, had been selected as the headquarters for the organization and thoroughly renovated and fresh in appearance. It presented a neat contrast to the beauty and brilliance of which it was during the evening made the rendezvous.

The members were late in assembling, and it was not until a quarter past eight o clock that a sufficient number had gathered in the room to constitute a quorum. They began to drop in rapidly after this hour, and soon the room was comfortably filled with an audience to every item of the proceedings.

The President Miss Matilda Heineman neatly arrayed in a dark brown evening dress, latest style in make up and trimmings, glanced at her elegant gold chronometer, and took her seat at the table. Miss Jennie Smith, blue striped dress, hat and chignon, imitated the example of her superior officer.

The President then opened the exercises with a brief invocation to the Throne of Grace. The meeting was now open to business.

The reading of the minutes was dispensed with temporarily to hear a report from the EXECUTIVE COMMITTE.

Miss Hattie Mulhattan in behalf of that body reported, that they had held a meeting at the residence of Miss Crane, Saturday afternoon, June 18th, 1870. The sub committe appointed for the purpose then reported that a consultation had been had with the Directors of the Fourth Ward School, and found that the hall of the school house could not be procured. They then decided to rent the hall over the Third National Bank, (Board of Trade Rooms) for $50 per year; which subsequently had been accomplished.

The report was received and the action of the committee was approved.

LECTURES TALKED OF.

Miss Heineman then suggested that it would be desirable to have a course of lectures during the coming season under the auspices of the association.

A motion was made to the effect that the President appoint a committee of three to arrange this business.

Miss Heineman [the President] stated that should the lecturers be procured, it would be understood that they were to choose their own subjects, although none would be employed who did not favor the Woman's Suffrage movement.

The motion was then carried, and the chair appointed as the committee Miss Kate Foster, Miss Jennie Heineman and Mr. W. T. Whitman.

Miss Jennie Heineman moved that the Executive Committee be instructed to meet regularly one week previous to each meeting, that in this manner a regular time might be set apart for the transaction of such business as might come before them. Carried.

The President stated it had become an unpleasant duty to appoint performers for each meeting, and she therefore desired that the Association devise some other plan.

On motion of Miss Mulhattan, the Lecture Committee were instructed to attend to this matter.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary—this having been delayed at the opening of the meeting. They were approved.

The President stated that Mr. Moreland had promised to address the meeting, but that when called upon a day or two previous he said it would be impossible for him to be present. Of the other performers appointed, Mrs. Spencer was also out of the city. She had left an essay to be read by a friend but that friend [whom the Chairman intimated must have been a gentleman] had lost it. Thus it would have to be postponed.

Mr. Caldwell was the

NEXT ON THE LIST,

And, happily, he was present. Being called upon he explained that he had made no preparation, having relied upon Mr. Moreland's address to fill up the time. He felt, however, that fifteen minutes could be "spun out" probably in expressing his views. He in every respect was a male man, but on the question of Woman's Suffrage he was a female man. [Smiles.] He felt that the cause was one of the most important which could engage the attention. It was sure to succeed. Custom, which was its greatest barrier, was gradually but surely giving way before it, and soon the triumph would be complete.

The speaker then related an instance which came under his observance illustrative of the capacity of woman for protecting herself. A woman had entered the office of the Evening Mail in this city, learned type setting, emigrated to the western wilds, and was now managing successfully two prosperous newspapers.

From this the gentleman employed about fifteen minutes in arguing the right of woman to the ballot, upon the ground that if it could be given to all men, black and white, irrespective of condition, intelligence, property or capacity, certainly it was eminently just that the women of the land should be similarly honored.

The speaker then reverted to an editorial notice which appeared on his former speech before the association, in the Freiheit's Freund, and in his remarks lost the usual placidity of his temper. It would have been better had the rejoinder been made through the columns of the speaker's paper, and not at a meeting of the association.

A brief silence now ensued, which was interrupted by the announcement of the President that all the regular performers had been disposed of, and the meeting was open to general remarks.

No one responded to the summons and

THE DEBATE

Was next taken up. The question for discussion was "Resolved that Women are entitled to all the rights and privileges with Men in Government and Society."

The question was debated in an earnest forcible, and spicy manner by Mrs. Danse and Miss Matilda Heineman. Both of the ladies were frequently interrupted with applause, which testified the hearty approval of the audience.

No other persons, although earnestly urged, ventured to say further upon the subject and the debate closed.

PERFORMERS APPOINTED.

The following members were appointed to speak at the next meeting: Misses Emiline Wilcox, Julia Foster, Mrs. Dr. Spencer, and Mr. W. A. Proudfoot.

On motion of Miss Danse the next meeting of the association was fixed for the first Thursday in September.

Mrs. Foster asked if it would not be a good idea to procure pamphlets upon the subject of Woman Suffrage to distribute among the members and others who were earnest yet ignorant in relation to the matter.

The suggestion was put in the form of a motion and the Executive Committee empowered to devote ten dollars to that purpose.

On motion, adjourned.

ANOTHER OIL FIRE.

The "Commercial" Works on Fire—Destruction of Oil and Portion of the Buildings—Loss $20,000.

Yesterday afternoon at two o'clock a fire broke out at the Commercial Oil Works, corner Thirty-third and Railroad streets, Twelfth ward. The conflagration was caused by a spark from a passing engine on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, falling into the agitator, located within a few feet of the track. The agitator contained about three hundred and fifty barrels of oil which in an instant was in flames. The works are supplied with a section of hose which was brought out and put into use by the workmen—an alarm of fire in the meantime being struck. By the time the engines had arrived on the grounds the fire had communicated to the shipping house, located at one side of the agitator. In it were about 650 barrels of refined oil ready for shipment. The flames could not be checked until this also was consumed. By diligent efforts the firemen succeeded in preventing the spread of the fire, and thus saved the works from total destruction. The agitator was also saved in such a condition that with a little repairing it can be used again. The loss was principally upon oil; about 1,000 barrels having been destroyed. The building can be rebuilt for about $1,000. The estimated loss entire is $20,000 which is fully covered by insurance, all in eastern companies.

The Commercial works are owned by a stock company, under the firm name of Lyons & Co. The business of the establishment will not be materially interfered with by the fire.

The railroad track for a couple of hundred feet was rendered useless by the warping of the rails from the heat. Workmen, however, succeeded in repairing this damage in a few hours, and trains were running regularly again last night.

The firemen deserve great credit for the efficiency which they exhibited in the discharge of duty. But for the promptitude the loss would have been much greater.

The Female Detective.

The life of a detective under any circumstances is full of vicissitudes, many of which are not of the most pleasant character, and when a female assumes the role of a detective, those vicissitudes are, as a natural sequence, greatly increased, but we presume there are some few pleasant reminiscenses even in the life of a "female detective." If she conforms herself strictly to the business of a detective she may succeed to a certain extent, but when she undertakes to play bailiff or constable, make arrests, &c., she will find the duties not only unpleasant but onorous. Such appears to have been the experience of Emma Cantwell, a female, who for some time past has been acting in the capacity of a detective in this city, without detecting any body so far as we can learn.

Yesterday morning Emma "detected" Michael Callahan, a boy who escaped from the House of Refuge a few days since. Michael, in company with a number of boys, many of them as bad as he, and he is bad enough, was found on Penn street, near the Twelfth ward station house, and the heroic Cantwell pounced upon him and placed a pair of nippers on his arm. Michael raised a row and appealed to his cumrades for assistance. The boys responded to the call and made an effort to rescue Michael, but the gallant "Cantwell" nothing daunted, drew her revolver and ordered them to stand. They stood of course, but some of those in the rear pitched an occasional boulder at the female officer, and in her efforts to dodge them her prisoner escaped. A moment afterward a policeman seeing a crowd assembled hastened to the spot and discovering a female with a drawn revolver making direful threats at the boys, and not knowing her to be a detective took her in custody and conducted her to the Twelfth ward station house. The Lieutenant in charge of the station house, was, it appears, better posted than the officer, and recognizing in the prisoner the "female detective," discharged her from custody. We have not heard from her since, but presume she is looking for the escaped Michael.
